NAVAL POLICY NOT DECIDED

BORDEN MINISTRY RELUCTANT TO ACT

British Firms Which Submitted Tenders Are Awaiting Announcement

Ottawa, Oct. 27.—The new government is evidently reluctant to definitely turn down the liberal policy of a Canadian navy, beginning with the construction in Canada of eleven vessels. Though this programme was criticized before the election, the government, which has been in power more than a month, has not yet taken the definite step of notifying the eleven British firms which tendered that none of their offers would be accepted. Not only that, but some of the tendering firms have sought and failed to have returned to them the large deposits aggregating several hundred thousand dollars. They were required to put up when tendering. These are still in the hands of the government, and the agents of the tendering firms have been asked to wait a little longer for an answer. It is possible that the tenders may be accepted in the case of some of the torpedo boats at least, which could be conveniently made use of for the factory protection service on both Atlantic and Pacific coasts, and at the same time be of use in continuing the training of the Canadian naval cadets already enlisted. That such vessels will be required is shown by the fact that the naval department is seeking twenty-five more young Canadians to qualify as officers in the Canadian navy. Competitive examinations have been called for November 15 for young men who desire to take places in the naval training school at Halifax and prepare them to become officers.

WILL VISIT TORONTO.

The Duke of Connaught Promises to Open Exhibition Next Year.

Ottawa, Oct. 27.—The Duke of Connaught was this morning waited upon by a Toronto deputation and asked to open the Toronto exposition next year. His Royal Highness readily gave his consent. The deputation included Mayor Geary, ex-Mayor Oliver and President Geo. Gooderham of the exhibition.

NEW PLANET.

Williams Bay, Wis., Oct. 27.—A new planet is rapidly approaching the earth. Astronomers have sighted it twice, and the Yerkes observatory scientists are maintaining a constant watch for it. The new heavenly body bodes no ill for terrestrial conditions, according to Prof. Frost of the observatory. It is not large, says the astronomer.

PORTUGUESE TROOPS ROUT ROYALISTS

Soldiers Surprise Band Who Flee After Exchange of Shot—Several Killed

Lisbon, Oct. 27.—(Via Frontier).—As time passes and the failure of the Royalist campaign appears to be more and more certain the people in general continue completely indifferent to the Royalist propaganda.

Spain's reluctance to act against the Portuguese Royalists on the frontier until lately has been due to the fact that the Portuguese Republicans have been in close correspondence with the Spanish Republicans. This the Spanish government could not approve and therefore was inclined to let the Portuguese Republican government fight its own battles.

The Diario Noticias publishes a dispatch from Abrantes, eighty miles from Lisbon, to the effect that last night another band of armed Royalists with rifles and revolvers was surprised by a military force. Several volleys were exchanged before the Royalists fled, leaving several dead.

EIGHT HOUR LAW ENFORCED.

Santa Barbara, Cal., Oct. 27.—The eight-hour law for women and a decision of State Labor Commissioner Laughlin received to-day that children cannot work in orchards during school terms, worked havoc with plans for harvesting the walnut crop in this county. The announcement of the law's restrictions was given to the Walnut Growers' Association at a special meeting held here to-day.

The decision of the labor commission forbidding the employment of children during school terms will force the retirement of scores of families who have encamped in the orchards so that the women and children might devote their whole time to the gathering of walnuts. The eight-hour law thereby will compel packing houses to employ larger forces of men.

MINERS' STRIKE HAS BEEN SETTLED

REPRESENTATIVES OF BOTH SIDES SIGN AGREEMENT

Will Be Submitted to Referendum Vote—Settlement on Basis of the Gordon Award

Lethbridge, Alb., Oct. 27.—The coal strike so long in existence has reached the end of its tether. At a conference lasting all day yesterday a basis of settlement was reached. Within a week the mines will, it is expected, be in full running order.

The whole position is now to be submitted to a referendum vote of the miners' union. The basis of settlement is said to be the Gordon award as to wages, recognition of the check system and slight changes in the wages schedule, particularly regarding contract work.

The agreement will be for the term of three and a half years.

Will Resume Work.

Medicine Hat, Oct. 27.—The strike of the coal miners of Eastern British Columbia and Alberta, which has been in progress for nearly eight months, is at an end, and in the course of a few days every one of the twenty-five mines in the district will be in operation again with 7,500 men at work.

The end of the strike was brought about through the efforts of Hon. Robert Rogers, minister of the interior, who came to Lethbridge Wednesday to meet both parties to the long-standing dispute and ascertain if something could not be done towards effecting a settlement. During the day he had a number of conferences with representatives of the operators and the men, and before the day was over it was considered that an agreement satisfactory to both sides was possible. The conferences were resumed at 8 o'clock yesterday morning, and at 2 o'clock in the afternoon the minister of the interior had held upwards of a dozen meetings with each side. It was announced the terms acceptable to all had been drawn up and signed.

There was general rejoicing in the city when it was stated that since the first of April twenty-five mines have been shut down and 7,500 men have been out of employment. The mines represent an invested capital of $40,000,000, while the monthly pay roll of the men totals in the neighborhood of $1,000,000. Business in all of the mining centres was considerably injured by the closing down of the collieries, no class escaping.

The settlement will be of immense advantage to the entire western country, which has been suffering from the coal famine during the approaching winter. The resumption of operations at the mines will mean the removal of this danger. The agreement, which was signed yesterday, is to continue in force for three and a half years, expiring on March 31, 1915.

The effect of the strike on the city of Lethbridge alone has been serious. In the mines heretofore, the output of which is shipped from this place, fifty cars a day or more were produced and several hundred men were employed. Since the mines were closed business has fallen off and it was stated to-day that until the mines were again in operation the loan companies have absolutely declined to loan money in cases where it would otherwise have been advanced without any delay. Merchants suffered also.

The agreement will be submitted to the various unions, and there is no question but that a vote of the men will sustain the action of their representatives. The men have stood the siege well, said one of their leaders after the settlement was signed. They have stuck together as well as any body of men ever did and the Union looked after them all the time. They can now return to work knowing that they fought a good fight.

NEWFOUNDLAND'S TRADE.

St. John, Nfld., Oct. 27.—Exceeding last year's record by $300,000, the trade of Newfoundland for the fiscal year ending in June, set a new high mark, according to the announcement made here to-day. For the fiscal year the colony's trade amounted to $25,400,000, against $24,500,000 for the previous year. The total imports showed an increase of $300,000, being $13,400,000. Exports totalled nearly $12,000,000, showing a slight increase. The exports to Great Britain amounted to $2,300,000, an increase of nearly half a million dollars. This was due largely to the output of the new pulp mills.

MILITIA COUNCIL MAY BUY AIRSHIP

OFFICERS TO WITNESS FLIGHTS IN STATES

Col. Hughes, Minister of Militia, Will Pay Visit to the

Ottawa, Oct. 27.—On instructions from Hon. S. Hughes, minister of militia, Col. Fleet, deputy minister of the department, and Lieut.-Col. Maunselle, director of engineer services, left yesterday for Atlantic City to witness the aviation flights there during the next few days under the auspices of the United States war department. The Canadian militia department has as yet taken no definite steps to keep pace with the times in preparing to utilize aerial craft for defence purposes, but the question has been under consideration by the militia council for some time. It is possible that a beginning may be made shortly by the purchase of an airship by the militia department. The report of Col. Fleet and Col. Maunselle on their return will be considered by the militia council with this in view.

Col. Hughes will leave on Sunday night for the Pacific Coast in company with General McKenzie, chief of the general staff, for an inspection trip covering militia properties and forces between Winnipeg and Victoria. Col. Hughes expects to be back in Ottawa in time for the opening of parliament on November 15.

ACCUSED OF KIDNAPPING.

Portland, Ore., Oct. 27.—City Detectives Frederick Mallett and J. C. Maloney and W. A. Rinker, a deputy sheriff of Denver, Colo., have been indicted by the Multnomah county grand jury on charges of kidnapping Leo W. Martin, formerly of Denver, Colo. They are accused of forcibly deporting Martin from Oregon to Washington on October 14, without legal authority for their act and in open defiance of court orders. Judge C. U. Gastenbein placed the bail of each of the detectives at $1,000 and ordered the issuance of bench warrants commanding them to appear in court. The Martin case had been the cause of a long drawn out squabble between Governor Oswald West of this state, State Circuit Judge William A. Gates, and the indicted men.

KILLED BY TRAIN.

Chehalis, Wash., Oct. 27.—Francis E. Wilson, a coal miner, formerly employed at Ruskin, B. C., was killed by a train near Winter, Wash. Coroner Sticklin deemed an inquest unnecessary and will hold the body until relatives can be notified.

OVER THOUSAND SLAIN IN BATTLE

TURKS AND ARABS SUFFER HEAVY LOSSES

Report That Large Force Threatens Tripoli Where Residents Are Panic-Stricken

Tripoli, Oct. 27.—A report from an Italian source, reporting the battle of yesterday, places the Turkish and Arab losses at more than 1,000 killed and a large number wounded, and the Italian loss at 100 dead and wounded.

The attack was made before day-break and took the Italians by surprise.

The Arabian and Turkish cavalry threw themselves against the entire Italian line which was formed in a semi-circle behind the city, the ends extending to the seashore. The Turks put their whole strength against the Italian centre, which they succeeded in smashing, but the Italians rallied and drove back the enemy, inflicting heavy losses.

The Turkish horsemen and foot soldiers displayed remarkable bravery.

Tripoli Threatened.
Malta, Oct. 27.—Unconfirmed information from Tripoli is to the effect that something in the nature of a panic has seized the city since it became known that a Musselman force of 60,000 Turks and Arabs is threatening Tripoli. The force is well armed and provisioned. But for a premature attack by a party of Musselmans on last Monday the Italians would have been ambushed, completely surrounded and none would have survived. In the subsequent revolt in the city, the Italians suffered more than 180 casualties before they gained the ascendancy.

From 40 to 50 Arabs are shot daily in the town.

Armistice Reports Discredited.

Rome, Oct. 27.—(Via frontier).—All reports concerning the possibility of an armistice between Italy and Turkey are discredited in official circles, which affirm that Italy is determined not to cease her military operations until Tripoli is wholly conquered.

MUST SUPPORT FAMILIES.

Kingston, Ont., Oct. 27.—In an interview with J. C. McConachie, agent of the Children's Aid Society, Hon. W. J. Hanna, provincial secretary in the Ontario government, said that his department was considering a plan whereby the worthless heads of families would be placed at work and the proceeds sent to their families. Mr. Hanna also said it was possible that arrangements would be made in the eastern part of the province for taking care of the men who would not support their families.

JEWEL ROBBERY AT VANCOUVER

THIEF SECURES $2,500 WORTH OF DIAMONDS

Takes Gems From Lighted Window During Absence of Proprietor

Vancouver, Oct. 27.—Booty to the extent of about $2,500 worth of diamond rings was secured by an expert diamond thief who last night broke into H. H. Ramage's jewelry store at 849 Granville street, and picked the choicest gems from the show window.

Mr. Ramage left the store at 4:30 o'clock and did not return until about three hours later. At the time he left for dinner everything seemed to be all right. He was not long in the store after his return when he noticed that one of the show windows had been disturbed in some manner and investigation showed that a dozen of his most valuable rings were gone. He immediately notified the police, who sent a detective to the scene at once.

It was found that the robber had gained admittance through the plumbing establishment of Messrs. McDonald and Perry, next door. All he had to do was to break the glass in one of two windows and a door, slip back the catches and enter. He had evidently sized up the windows before he attempted the theft, for it was evident that he had gone direct to the right-hand window, the one in which the jewels were on exhibition.

To obtain the jewels the thief must have been visible for a few moments in the window, as he would have to lean far over into the lighted show window to pick out the jewels. There must have been many people passing the store at the time and it is probable that many of them saw the man handling the jewels, but thought no jewels were on exhibition.

The police are working on the case, but so far as can be learned the thief did not leave the slightest clue behind him.

MINE SUPERINTENDENT DEAD.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 27.—The Russian authorities are enquiring into the murder of J. J. Emerich, the American superintendent of the Kyslim Copper Company, which operates several mines in Russia, who was murdered last Tuesday. All the authorities have learned so far is that Emerich was killed about 7:30 p. m. by a shot fired through a window of his home. Several slugs from a sporting gun pierced the heart. Emerich was strict with his workmen, but never had any altercations with them.

A legal enquiry is now pending, a recently discharged workman having been arrested.

WILL TREAT WITH REVOLUTIONISTS

CHINESE GOVERNMENT TO OPEN NEGOTIATIONS

Leader of Rebels Proclaimed President of "Republic of China"

Peking, Oct. 27.—It was authoritatively announced here this morning that at the instigation of Yuan Shi Kai negotiations between the Imperialist forces and the revolutionaries in the Yangtze Kiang region are about to open. It was also officially stated that Yuan Shi Kai will proceed to Sui Yan Chow to-morrow to take over the supreme command of the Imperial army and navy at the front.

General Li Yuan Heng, leader of the rebel forces, has informed the foreign consuls at Hankow that he has been proclaimed "president of the Republic of China."

The foreign ministers have exchanged communications with Li on several subjects. They objected to his announcement that vessels carrying contraband would be subject to confiscation and also to his proposals to administer the customs revenues at the port of Yangtze Kiang and other cities controlled by the rebels. The latter objection was based on the fact that revenues are pledged as security for foreign loans and should be turned over to the British Inspector-general of customs in China.

Reports that the minister of war, General Yin Tsiang, is dead, continue in circulation and are believed by many Chinese.

Sheng Hsun Hui who was sent from the office of the minister of posts and communication to the National Assembly yesterday, had a narrow escape from assassination here to-day. He fled to the American legation whence he was later escorted by a squad of ten soldiers to Tien Tsin.

Russian View.
Washington, D. C., Oct. 27.—Although the reports from China indicate that the purpose of the revolutionary movement there is to establish a reform government, advice received at the state department from Ambassador Guild at St. Petersburg, say the revolution is regarded in Russia as merely a local affair that will be confined to a few provinces. In view of the close relations between Russia and China, there is an inclination to believe that this is true.

Ambassador Guild refers to a statement recently made by Prof. Otto Franke of Hamburg, whom he declares to be a recognized authority on Oriental matters. Prof. Franke gave it as his opinion that the political struggle is an outcrop of racial antipathy of Mongolians and does not in any way bear an appearance of a movement for reform.

It is said the Russian government is so well satisfied with the situation that no warships will be sent to China waters, in addition to the single gunboat now there.

Consul Threatened.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 27.—The posting of a revolution notice on the door of the Chinese Imperial consulate yesterday was denounced by Secretary Tong King Chong, of the Chinese National Association to-day. He called on the leaders of the association to prevent a similar insult. In the future, it is said, the Chinese revolutionary Chinese are responsible for the posting of the notice.

Consul-general Li Yuen Yow, according to Tong, has been placed in a trying position during the trouble, but he is a Cantonese and has only official relations with the Manchus and as such is thought to be in sympathy with the local colony. The notice threatened his life unless the consul left the city.

Minister in Danger.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 27.—A dispatch received by the Chinese Press here fails to verify the report from Shanghai that Gen. Yen Tchang, Imperial minister of war, has been assassinated by his own troops. The cable says the general is in danger and that it is feared he will be put to death, but as yet there has been no outbreak.

REORGANIZING DEPARTMENTS.

Proposal to Form Civil Service Commission to Handle Winnipeg's Civic Servants.

Winnipeg, Oct. 27.—The organization of a civil service commission is a suggestion just advanced for Winnipeg, a board of commissioners with classification and efficiency charts to handle the city's rapidly-increasing army of employees in all departments. The scheme has been tried out in some large cities in the United States, and just now when the city is worrying its way through the gigantic problem of reorganization of its clerks and employees generally, the proposal may be treated with more than passing interest. The scheme is advanced by the recent deputation sent by order of council to attend the international municipal exposition and good roads congress at Chicago in its report to the council. This party was composed of Controller Vaughn, Alderman Douglas, City Clerk Brown and Street Commissioner Tallman.

MAYOR SUSPENDS CITY ENGINEER

NOTICE SERVED ON OFFICIAL TO-DAY

Decision Will Be Reported to Council This Evening—Culmination of Dispute

City Engineer Angus Smith received this morning notice from Mayor Morley suspending him from the discharge of his official duties, as threatened for some time. The suspension takes effect immediately, and will be reported by his worship to the city council to-night.

This is the culmination of the charges and replies which have agitated the council particularly during the last few months, and have been more or less in evidence ever since Mr. Smith took office in July, 1910.

On Friday the engineer replied to his critic in a long document, containing remarks which the mayor took occasion to respond to in another lengthy indictment on Tuesday. These, however, the engineer will ignore, owing to the pressure of street work which has kept him busy since the charges were formulated, and this morning the mayor has put his threat of suspension into execution, before the council resolved on their action upon the report.

Mr. Smith was still at his office this morning, and he looks to the council this evening as expressing the sympathy of the citizens, to reinstate him, as they have promised to do on several occasions when the charges have been made in council—and the declaration made that suspension would follow.

The suspension is operative under section 11 of the Municipal Clauses Act, which is worded as follows:

"Sub-section D. The Mayor, or Reeve, shall have unrestricted authority and power to inspect and order the conduct of all officers and employees of the Corporation, and to direct the method of management of the Corporation business and affairs, and to suspend the officers and employees of the Corporation, and as far as may be in his power to cause all negligence, carelessness, and violation of duty on the part of the officers and employees to be prosecuted and punished; but every such case of suspension shall be reported to the council at its next sitting, and if the council decide by resolution to reinstate any officer who has been suspended they may do so, or the council may decide to make such suspension absolute."

IMPRISONED FOR STABBING.

Nelson, B. C., Oct. 27.—Norman McLeod yesterday pleaded guilty to stabbing Richard Taylor in prison here Wednesday morning, and was sentenced to 23 months' imprisonment. He stated that he had worked for years among the rough seafaring men on the Pacific coast "where a man had to look out for himself." Taylor will recover.

THREE JUDGES TO HEAR TRUST SUIT

Defendants Called to Appear Before Court at Trenton in December

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 27.—It was authoritatively announced here to-day that three judges will hear the case of the government against the United States Steel Corporation. The judges are George Gray of Wilmington, Del.; Joseph Buffington of Pittsburg, Pa.; and William M. Lanning of Trenton. These judges recently handed down a decision in favor of the government to dissolve the alleged powder trust.

Hearing in December.

New York, Oct. 27.—The entire force of deputies under United States Marshal Henkle was put at the disposal of the government to-day to finish the task of serving copies of the bill of equity in the federal court to dissolve the United States Steel Corporation upon officers and directors of the alleged trust residing here. J. P. Morgan and E. H. Gary received service last night, but thirteen others remained to be served in this neighborhood. According to a statement given out by the officers of the United States marshal's office in Trenton, where the suit was filed yesterday this service of petition will be followed by subpoenas requiring the defendants to answer the petition at Trenton on December 4. It is expected that both of these services will be made within 48 hours.

The news of the dissolution suit came yesterday some time after the stock market had closed, but it brought many of the brokers back to their offices in a hurry to lay plans for to-day's market and to take advantage of the early opening on the exchange.

Dealers on put and call privileges were busy all night sending orders to London. Word of the sharp decline of steel in London caused no surprise in New York and traders prepared for a lively day when the stock exchange opened.

FORCED TO YIELD TO NATIONAL ASSEMBLY

Reforms Granted in China—President of Council Will Be Punished

Pekin, Oct. 27.—The throne yesterday in addition to surrendering to the National Assembly, China's national assembly, in ordering the dismissal of Sheng Hsuan Hui, minister of posts and communications, ordered Prince Ching, president of the cabinet, before a board of inquiry where he doubtless will be severely dealt with released from custody the president of the 22-member provincial assembly and other leaders in the riots at Cheng Tu and, in fact, agreed to all that the assembly asked with lack of dignity inconceivable to Western observers.

A year ago the throne treated the National Assembly almost with contempt. It was a month ago, the throne, against the people, issued orders, embracing drastic measures. Now, the president of the newly convened assembly, having consequences of the throne's conduct, has been granted without a day's consideration.

The order reports over the throne's and the assembly and charges made against the minister of posts and communications, and others made by a heated, radical and controlled assembly, but the Chinese affairs cannot be judged by Western standards. It will be considered here, however, that the throne acted wisely, that it recognized its defeat and submitted to force. Even the degraded ministers are not likely to bear serious ill-will.

The appointment of Tang Shao Yi to succeed to Sheng Hsuan Hui is believed to forecast the appointment of Yuan Shi Kai to the second office in the cabinet if not to the premiership. It is reported that Yuan already is negotiating with the rebels. Members of the throne, who are said to experience in Chinese affairs would not be surprised if the revolution terminated peacefully without further fighting through the government granting complete and immediate constitutional government.

An imperial edict was mainly responsible for the plan to nationalize the Chinese railroads. In consequence of which the present rebellion arose. The government thus sacrificed the man considered by foreigners as the strongest member of the cabinet in order to avoid an open rupture with the assembly. The rebellious element in the provinces of Szechuan, Hupoh and Hunan formulated charges against the minister and the subject was taken up by the national assembly. Wednesday Sheng was not present, but his secretary attempted to read a written statement from his chief. The members refused to hear him and cried "decapitate Sheng." Tang Shao Yi, who formerly held the post, succeeds Sheng.

Punishment is ordered for General Chou Erh Feng (reported assassinated) and Wang Ter Wen, the present and past viceroys of Szechuan. Will Celebrate. San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 27.—Overjoyed at the reports of the fighting in China received in the last week or ten days the leaders of the Chinese movement which has its headquarters in this city, have laid plans for a big demonstration next Saturday. In which 10,000 revolutionary flags and pennants will be used. It is said that virtually the whole Chinese population of the cities around San Francisco bay will participate in the parade and mass meetings. As soon as the ceremonies are over the flags and pennants will be gathered up and shipped to China. The local revolutionists also are planning for a monster banquet on November 5th, with which the rebel triumphs will be celebrated.

KILLED BY FALLING LAMP. Fresno, Cal., Oct. 27.—W. L. Fuller, a guard employed by the Southern Pacific Company in their stockade, was instantly killed when an iron lamp fell from a pole and struck him on the top of his head, crushing his skull. One of Fuller's duties was to see that the lamps burned brightly. Fuller grasped the wire to snake the lamp as he stood directly under the heavy iron affair. The lamp broke from the cable, the iron prongs below crushing into his skull.

No Difficulty in Underwriting Sound Propositions in London

Vancouver, Oct. 27.—"Canadian Industrial and land propositions were never in more general favor than at present. Many cases during recent years have contributed to strengthen the sentimental ties and business relations between the Motherland and the Dominion. There is no difficulty in underwriting sound propositions, especially if they come from Western Canada. On my return to London I intend to co-operate with British capitalists in organizing a loan and mining company, whose field of activity will be British Columbia and the other western provinces," said A. J. Macmillan, of Rossland, managing director of the Le Roi Mining Company and its official liquidator, to a representative of the Times.

liquidator, Mr. Macmillan recently distributed a dividend of two shillings a share and several more dividends will be forthcoming before the company is wound up. It has no liabilities and still owns certain other assets in the way of mining claims as well as a smelter at Northport, Wash., just south of the international boundary. These assets will be disposed of. The reconstruction plant has a treatment capacity of 1,000 tons of ore daily.

PASTOR OCCUPIES ROOM IN CHURCH

Although Injured, He Refuses to Be Moved, Fearing Opposition Would Take Charge

Denver, Col., Oct. 27.—Rev. Walter Rudolph, pastor of the Union Presbyterian church here, severely injured in a factional fight in his church Tuesday night, delivered a sermon Wednesday night, while members of his flock representing his following from the congregation proper, knelt in prayer about his bedside.

THINKING THEMES BY DR. FRANK CRANE

It's odd, how the real serious business of a man's life never gets into his biography, nor the serious business of a nation into its history. A man works, he gives up health, family, pleasure, life itself, to get his work done, hustling down to the store at seven o'clock every morning, sticking faithfully to the office day after day, peddling pills or sermons; whatever it is, he has simply got to be done, and he makes a great virtue of it, and so do others and call him a solid, reliable man; everything is sacrificed for his work, which, after all, is hardly worth mentioning. When his biography appears in the paper it will be said that "for many years he kept a grocery on Tenth street," or "he practiced law in our city for over a quarter of a century." Lord! what an ocean of sweat and thought and effort and soul gone to make a platitude! If you keep a diary, you will notice how seven hours of intense application is set down as "worked in the study this morning till 1 o'clock," and you will fill a page with a visit, a dinner, or some kind of play. And, of course, as for nations, it is the happy, prosperous and busy times that have no history. Only when the population leave off their useful toil and go to cutting one another's throats, do we get history.

Life is epochal, dramatic, romantic, interesting, to the vulgar mind, only when it is diverted or perverted; that is, only in its play and its crime. It takes a sage, it takes culture and wisdom, to perceive that the most interesting thing of all is the daily work of a common man.

SENT TO PENITENTIARY.

Morden, Man., Oct. 27.—Judge Prindergast yesterday sentenced G. Brown, who pleaded guilty to attempted abduction and attempted assault on Miss Gladys Price, the Riverside school teacher, and to attempted murder of William Adams, the Snowflake hotel proprietor, to the following terms in Stony Mountain penitentiary, to run concurrently: Attempted abduction, eight years; attempted assault, seven years; attempted murder, two years.

HEIRESS DISAPPEARS

Left New York Hotel a Week Ago and Cannot Be Found.

New York, Oct. 27.—In circumstances almost paralleling those in which Miss Dorothy Arnold was lost to her relatives a year ago, Miss Consuelo Fajardo, 19 years old, a Porto Rican heiress, has been missing from the Hotel Felix-Portland here since October 18, when she walked out, telling persons whom she met that she was going to buy a magazine.

Despite the inability of the police to obtain traces of the girl, her father, a wealthy sugar magnate, believes that she is still in this city and that she went away because of his objection to her friendship with a man of the diplomatic corps in Santo Domingo. So far as can be learned, however, she has not been seen or communicated with the man she desired to marry. The police have been quietly searching for Miss Fajardo for a week, but have obtained no clue to her whereabouts.

WILL NOT GRANT MEDAL.

Hamilton, Ont., Oct. 27.—Word has been received here that the Royal Humane Society has decided not to grant a medal to Fireman Fitzgerald for his heroism in rescuing several inmates at the asylum fire last August. The reason given is that it does not care to give medals to those whose positions render it necessary for them to go into positions of danger.

SONGHEES PARK LANDS.

Yesterday the Times published a letter from Mayor Morley in response to the invitation of this paper that the chief magistrate explain the negotiations between the city and the provincial government in past years respecting the lands purchasable for park purposes in the old Songhees Reserve. The Mayor's letter, incorporating a letter of Premier McBride, establishes the fact that under certain considerations the government was willing on the date of the Premier's letter to cede the city twenty-five acres of the land for the purpose outlined. The conditions set forth in the letter of the Premier are specific and easy to understand. All that the city was to pay or lend for the title to the twenty-five acres was:

"The city of Victoria to advance all moneys that may be required in transferring and settling the Indians in the new Reserve, the province to recoup the city immediately on completion of the land sale as provided in the previous paragraphs."

That is to say, for a temporary loan to satisfy the cost of removing the Indians the city was to secure indefinitely his title to an acreage of which the present park site is but a fraction.

The Mayor's letter sets forth that the reason this agreement was not carried out was owing to the failure of the city and the Dominion government to bring about a settlement with the Indians. His Worship does not indicate who it was that was behind the Indians in their refusal to "settle" with the city, though we think that by this time he must have a pretty clear perception of where the obstinacy originated. Coming events sometimes cast their shadows before and sometimes they leave their shadows behind. In this case the identity of the shadow is unmistakable, and it looms large through all the proceedings.

Mayor Morley gave his interview setting forth the facts described in his letter of yesterday on the day before the provincial elections in 1907. We do not care to say that this was done to render signal service to Hon. Richard McBride in that election, but the psychological moment of the interview and the unequivocal credit which it gave to the government of which Mr. McBride was the head leaves it open to such interpretation. There is no doubt that Mayor Morley's interview was calculated to and did influence a large number of Victoria electors to support the McBride candidates in that election. We do not here accuse the Mayor of perfidy. We presume that he believed the promises made by Mr. McBride and acted in good faith. There is no doubt that his assurance that the McBride government had secured the city a free park site of twenty-five acres in the Songhees Reserve, turned many votes in the city just as Mr. McBride intended it should. We can scarcely credit Mayor Morley with being so obtuse enough not to see, nor to have foreseen, that at the time. The question now is a simple one to ask and answer: Was Mr. McBride honest? Did he intend to keep his promise? We should like the Mayor to tell Victoria electors what he thinks about that, especially as he was the willing medium through whom Mr. McBride so effectively worked.

Mr. McBride gave the Dominion government an assurance that he had passed an order-in-council ceding the twenty-five acres to the city of Victoria. It was partly because of that representation that he succeeded in effecting the settlement about which some of his laudatory organs have been ever since glorifying the Premier. If Mr. McBride did not intend to carry out that promise made to the city in the letter produced by the Mayor and ratified by order-in-council, he obtained a settlement with the Dominion government under false pretences. And the evidence of his perfidy is painfully manifest in the fact that he now desires to make the city in the sum of $50,000 for half the amount of the land to which it is already entitled.

Only last week one of Mr. McBride's heavily subsidized organs touted him as a man who always keeps his word. The Times has unearthed this Songhees Reserve matter in order to give Mr. McBride a chance to justify that glorification of his moral character. If he does not do so in this instance he must stand discredited by the fact that he and his candidates in the city were elected in 1907 under false representations and he himself convicted of misrepresentation before the council of the Dominion government. The verification of these facts, or their disproval by Mr. McBride involves a small matter of $50,000 to the city treasury and incidentally to the taxpayers. It is the duty of Mayor Morley to assist the ratepayers to bring Mr. McBride and his government to book to answer for his perfidious treatment of the electors. The Prime Minister is the senior member for Victoria city, and he has an obligation to the city which elected him somewhat more direct than he has as the head of the government which apparently has made promises only to break them.

Mayor Morley hints in his letter that the government "under more careful consideration" may see its way clear to "deal with the city equally generously as it did with Vancouver in the matter of Point Grey," etc. Neither the Times nor the people of Victoria want the government to "deal generously" with Victoria. They want only that Mr. McBride shall keep his word and ratify the good opinion of his word-keeping character which is so blatantly flouted abroad by his subsidized organs. Since Mayor Morley hopes for good things, the Times is quite willing that he should try his hand to bring about that "more careful consideration" which he hopes the government will give to this important matter. We hope, however, that it will not "take till Doomsday." The vote on this by-law takes place next Thursday, and the electors should be treated to the courtesy of an immediate understanding.

THE AMERICAN REFERENDUM.

The recent referendum in California has given two measures a status in law for which prolonged agitation has been carried on. They are the initiative, referendum and recall—including the judiciary—and woman suffrage. On the first the majority was decisive and on the second sufficiently large to carry the measure. Democrats and Socialist-Democrats united to effect the result, and the rejoicing among Socialist-Democrats is pronounced. In order that the views of the organ of this latter political party may be understood we produce an editorial from the California Socialist-Democrat which defines the temper in which that party has received the victory:

"California now has the initiative, referendum and the recall, including the judiciary. These measures have been advocated by the Socialists for many years and the rejoicing over the victory will be widespread.

"Now that the initiative is within our grasp it will be the duty of the Socialists to watch developments and when the time comes introduce measures of benefit to the working class.

"Capitalism may well tremble if the workers awaken to the power that has been placed within their hands. Solid labor votes of the state can put through measures such as machine ruled legislatures have long denied us.

"Again, the referendum must be watched with great care and no opportunity lost to start action which will prevent consummation of many of the conspiracies that will be started in the future as in the past by the anti-labor organizations of the state.

"As for the recall it is a powerful weapon which it will rarely be necessary to use. But it is here and we have it.

"Through the use of these Socialist measures—and Socialists have long known how to use them—we can achieve great results and bring about action that will be of greatest benefit in an occasional way, if in no other, to the working class movement."

Here in Canada we have not caught up with the idea of a general acceptance of the principle of the initiative and referendum. We know it only by theory, though experiments are to be made with the principle in several Canadian cities. The recall is, as yet, something upon which Canadians look with suspicion, particularly that system which makes possible the recall of the judiciary. Fortunately, under the system of jurisprudence in vogue in Canada, following as it does the British system, the recall is foreign to the spirit of our laws and constitution. Though our judiciary is appointive, and continues during good behavior, it cannot be said that political affiliations influence the bench. It is one of the things which stands to the everlasting credit of the Canadian judiciary that, when once lawyers are elevated to the bench, the law and only the law influences their decisions. This feature of our system of jurisprudence has ever been the admiration of the best informed American people, and it is probably the abuses of the system under which judges are elective in the United States that has made the inclusion of the judiciary in the recall appear a necessity. It will be noted that the paper from which we quote expresses the opinion that its exercise will not often be necessary. We fancy that, with the possibility of recall always before them, judges otherwise inclined to weaken in the matter of transparent justice would have a care. It will be a long time, however, before Canadians adapt themselves to the thought of the recall of those appointed to the responsible positions of administrative and executive justice.

The success of the suffrage movement will be watched with keen interest both in view of the fact that the suffragette movement in the United Kingdom has attained such proportions and that it has a legitimate offspring in Canada. The Canadian electorate who are slow to experiment with the woman vote will be guided in their final judgment upon the question largely by how the women behave themselves in their new relations to the state and in the discharge of those added responsibilities which are the just corollary of the franchise.

People who are looking for a hint as to what Mr. Borden will do about the Canadian Navy, are referred to the following deliverance from his Halifax organ: "Canada has plenty of money for really useful purposes; but Canada has no money to throw away on a navy or anything else that can be of no practical good."

The Toronto Telegram, a leading Tory organ, puts the case in a nutshell and hits three birds with one pellet when it asks: "Would Bourassa & Co. consent to let Canada's Parliament present Britain with a Dreadnought, to be built at Canada's expense and named after F. D. Monk, the fighter who conquered R. L. Borden, on the occasion of his first engagement?"

The speech of Hon. Dr. Young at the Shepherd smoker last night was characteristically jingoistic and characteristically Tory. It is lamentable, however, that when the substantial doctor was eulogizing the Tory party for having placed the "red spots" on the map of the world he did not refer to one red spot on the American continent which that party had blotted out. And when all is said that one red spot blotted out nearly two centuries ago was the greatest loss the British empire ever sustained. Come again, doctor.

Elsewhere in to-day's Times appears a letter from a well known citizen setting forth the steps that are being taken by the Sikhs of British Columbia to secure what they consider their rights within the Dominion as a citizen of Empire and soldiers of the King. It is understood that there is nothing in the present immigration regulations that can be interpreted as legally excluding the wives of Hindu settlers in this province. The difficulty seems to have been to induce the transportation companies to accept money for passage from Indian ports to Canadian destination. We think it somewhat of a reflection upon our civilization as well as upon our morality that Chinese and Japanese should be permitted to bring their wives to this country and that Hindus, especially Sikhs, should be debarred from such right. If there is to be exclusion at all of other than British-born immigrants, we think the rule should be made equitable. We must be permitted to express the hope that the efforts of the Sikhs outlined in the letter referred to may succeed in unearthing who is responsible for the present anomalous position of these subjects of the British Imperial Crown.

Clement, of Comox-Atlin, is something of a talker; it remains to be seen if he is a worker. Like the member for Nanaimo he is boasting about what he is going to do when he goes to Ottawa, and it is perhaps better that he should boast now, as he may not be able to do so afterwards. He is reported to have said this to the Colonist: "I have no desire to make uncomplimentary references to the former representative of my constituency," said Mr. Clement, "but I have no hesitation in saying that it has been shamefully neglected in the matter of postal and telegraphic services." While boasting of the big things he will accomplish when he really gets to work may be tolerated under the circumstances, to begin this early to censure his predecessors is surely the very worst kind of bad taste. What he says, also, about them is untrue and his constituents know that it is untrue. Comox-Atlin has been expanding at such a rapid rate that it has been difficult for the departments of the government to keep pace with its development, particularly in postal facilities; but to say, as Mr. Clement says, that the constituency has been shamefully neglected in the matter of postal and telegraphic services is the boldest kind of an untruth. It is not worth while to produce evidence to the contrary; the extension and improvement of the telegraphic service by wire, the splendid chain of wireless stations, the scores of new post offices opened, and new mail routes established, are evidences that Mr. Clement is a very unreliable witness. A little more modesty would be very becoming in the member for Comox-Atlin.

J. C. Walters is leaving shortly for OMAHA, as a member of the executive of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada. The congress will interview Premier Borden and the new minister of labor, Hon. T. W. Crothers, asking for amendments to the Lemieux Immigration and Alien Labor Acts.

A petition prepared on behalf of the women of British Columbia, asking an extension to them of the provincial franchise, is at present being circulated throughout the province, and it is expected to be presented at the next meeting of the legislature, about the middle of January. The petition is similar to the others dealt with by the past legislature, containing the same appeal, but includes the claim that the partial suffrage enjoyed by the women of British Columbia in school and municipal affairs has been attended with much benefit to the provincial community.

SECOND CABLE TO ### LOWER MAINLAND

B. C. Telephone Company Will Construct New Submarine Cable Across Gulf

The telephone service between the mainland and Vancouver Island is likely to be considerably improved by the proposed construction of a cable from Point Grey straight across the Gulf of Georgia to Departure Bay, near Nanaimo, according to Vancouver officials of the B. C. Telephone Company.

At the present time there is one cable from the mainland serving all the exchanges as far east as Agassiz, and the exchanges on the Island, and it is now proposed to lay a submarine cable directly across the Gulf rather than by way of Bowen and Texada Islands, or by the southern route, using some of the San Juan Islands.

The distance will be about 30 miles, the above direct route having only been chosen after careful surveys. The cable, which is of a new type, will be made in England and will cost in the neighborhood of $150,000. It will be of what is known as the Pupin coil type, one of which has been used with the greatest success across the English channel in connecting up services between England and France. This cable's special features are electric coils, attached to the cable every half mile. These coils are for the purpose of taking up the electric currents in the water, as well as equalizing the electric resistance of the cable.

The present cable in use consists of four double wires, the new one will possess seven double strands, and the improvement to the service will undoubtedly be great, as the extra amount of business demands an increase in the service.

It is expected to lay the cable next spring, by which time the company expects to have a cable boat available for this work, and for the repairs which arise from time to time. On inquiry at the local offices yesterday it was stated that the improvements referred to above would greatly facilitate conversation over the phone with Vancouver and other exchanges from this city; and also that it was generally understood that another cable must be brought into use at an early date, although no announcement had officially been made as to the route. The manager of long distance lines, however, said he had no doubt the proposal would be carried through as soon as possible.

QUESTION OF SECURITY THE PRIME CONSIDERATION.

The collapse of one or two of the weaker banks, and the recent winding up of three life insurance companies doing business in Canada, has brought home very forcibly to a good number of people the importance of exercising prudence and caution in the investment of their money. Unfortunately there are a number of people in Victoria who held policies in some of these defunct life insurance companies. With life insurance companies it seems to be a case of the "survival of the fittest." Two of the companies that recently were compelled to wind up, were comparatively new and found the struggle of competing for business against the old and well established companies a hopeless and impossible task.

The Dominion Government Blue Book shows that there are at least a half dozen prosperous and well-managed Canadian life companies possessing in a marked degree the elements of financial strength and security, and enjoying the well merited confidence of the Canadian public. An endowment policy in one of these strong and well-managed Canadian life companies has proved a good investment in addition to protecting the home and family. In taking out an insurance policy, people should remember that they are making a permanent investment, and that it is not wise to experiment with it, but to select a strong and safe company so as to ensure the best return for their money invested.

Among the old and well-established Canadian companies, the Mutual Life of Canada holds a conspicuous position as a company of the very highest standing and with a record for the past 41 years unsurpassed by any other financial institution in the history of Canada. The business of The Mutual Life of Canada in Victoria is under the management of Mr. R. L. Drury, with whom is associated Mr. Fred M. McGregor.

TO MOVE CENSURE

MOTION TO-NIGHT

Promised Termination of Civic Tangle—Resolution to Appoint Superintendent

Alderman Humber, who has been the most severe critic of the mayor's actions in the past few weeks, has given notice of motion at the council meeting this evening, which, if carried, is a direct censure of his worship, and can only be regarded by him as such. It is worded in the following language: "That the controversy between the mayor and city engineer has seriously interfered with the business of the council; has implicated injuriously and unjustly other officials and has caused a large amount of scandal in the city to the detriment of the city as a whole, both in this province and throughout the country, that the council is of the opinion that the method adopted by the mayor of laying his charges before the council against the engineer in a written communication in the first place was irregular; that he has full powers to deal with the matter in a constitutional way under the statute, and that that way should have been by suspension and report at the next meeting of the council; therefore, as laid down in the statute, and then a proper investigation could have been held under the provisions of the statute, if the council deemed it advisable to do so. In view of this, this council refuses to receive any more communications from the mayor or the engineer with reference to this controversy."

The protracted dispute between Mayor Morley and City Engineer Smith is supposed, according to the council's resolution, to see its conclusion to-night, but it is very doubtful if this will be the case, as the city engineer's reply to the mayor's second and supplementary statement of Tuesday is certain to contain controversial matter, and his worship says he will not let matters rest till he has had his reply to any remarks reflecting on the executive head of the corporation.

If the aldermen stand by their guns, apparently the mayor has no alternative than to carry out his declaration to suspend Mr. Smith at once, and if this is done the aldermen are certain to back the latter up.

A new feature of the case will be introduced in a resolution for which Alderman Langley is sponsor, to call for applications for a superintendent of construction, to be paid at least $6,000 a year. The effect of this resolution would have a very important bearing on the status of Mr. Smith to the council, practically reducing him to second in command.

Action has not been taken so far to test the mayor's veto on the new police station building in the courts, as was decided after a heated debate on Tuesday, but to-night the matter will come up again when Alderman Moresby will move that the building inspector, Mr. Northcott, be authorized to call for tenders as soon as the necessary plans and specifications have been proceeded with, and that the tenders should be in by Nov. 10, or in other words confirming a resolution which was carried at the last meeting with the mayor out of the chair, with this difference that it will have been passed the necessary 24 hours, and therefore cannot be ruled out of order on that technicality and must be discussed as a principle. It is doubtless necessary to do this before the case can go to a judge, under the Municipal Clauses Act, in proper legal form.

Alderman H. M. Fullerton, one of the directors of the B. C. Agricultural Association, will move a resolution to bring pressure to bear on the authorities to secure the Dominion exhibition to this city next year.

The Dominion exhibition has been held in British Columbia before, when it came to New Westminster in 1905, and the vote of $50,000 which the federal authorities allow, has to be spent chiefly on buildings of a permanent character, the idea being to build up fair grounds in each centre where it is held. As, however, the exhibition was at Regina this year, it is doubtful whether there is much chance for a western city like Victoria in 1912.

The following is the wording of the resolution: "That the Dominion government be memorialized to hold the Dominion Exhibition for 1912 in the city of Victoria at the same time as the annual Agricultural Association exhibition, and that copies of this resolution be forwarded to the minister of agriculture, Honorable Mr. Martin Burrell and Mr. G. H. Barnard, M. P.

OIL HEATING IN SCHOOLS.

The popularity of the oil heating apparatus which is being tested in several of the public schools of the province, and in some cases has already been adopted by trustees board in preference to the older systems, is responsible for the visit of F. E. G. Berry, of Vancouver, and J. R. Duncan, of the Vulcan Boiler Works, New Westminster, to this city. They waited on Dr. Young, minister of education, this morning, and also intend to lay their proposal before the Victoria school board. The promoters see a great future before this system, and believe the public buildings of the province would be better heated by it. It was mentioned that provision has been made in the parliament buildings extension for this method.

Out of the 22 English firms which had profit sharing schemes in the period of 1909 to 1910, 14 dropped the plan, leaving only 72 that are now supposed to be working under the system.

The largest cab rank in the world is at Waterloo station, London, the terminus of the London & Southwestern Railway; it is a quarter of a mile long, and more than 1,000 cabs are called there in twenty-four hours.

MIKE LYNCH WILL LEAD TIGERS IN 1912

Shreeder Denies Reports That His Playing Manager Will Leave the Club

Tacoma, Oct. 27.—A number of newspapers on the Northwest League circuit have been printing rumors to the effect that Mike Lynch will leave the Tigers next season. This rumor was emphatically denied by George M. Shreeder, president of the local baseball club.

According to the stories which have been circulated out of Seattle, Lynch has been dickering with a number of Class A clubs and has a number of jobs lined up in case he should lose his present position.

"There is nothing to that story," said President Shreeder. "Lynch left Tacoma shortly after the close of the season and is now spending his time upon his ranch east of the mountains. Before he left, we outlined plans for next tract belongs to the Tacoma club and he can not make a change without the consent of the local organization. Of course a manager who does not want to remain is a drawback to the club, but these stories, I believe, are without foundation."

The present indications point to a complete change in the line-up of the season and he is corresponding with a number of new players.

"Lynch will be the leader of the Tigers for the season of 1912 if I have anything to say about it. The club will have to have a number of new players as several were sold during the season just passed, and it is the work of the manager to line up new players during the winter. Two men have already been signed and there will be others before the first of the year."

Lynch will not be back in Tacoma until the real winter sets in, but I would have surely heard of it, were he contemplating a change. His contract for next year, Fisher has been released on account of his inability to hit. It is not probable that Casey will be retained in the infield and Coleman was sold to the New York Americans. This leaves only Pete Morse for the infield and Pete is none too sure of making good. The outfield with Gwyn, Lynch and Abbott will be unchanged but the remainder of the team will be made over.

A new catcher must be found to take the place of Eddie Burns, who was sold to the St. Louis Nationals, and the holes in the pitching staff will have to be filled. Lynch will look after that feature this winter and next March will see a new tribe of Tigers take the field and in April the trouble will begin all over again.

CHAMPION MALLWYD MAJOR IS KILLED

Run Over by Automobile in Tacoma—Recently Owned by Local Fancier

Champion Mallwyd Major, the celebrated international winning English setter, formerly owned by J. S. Hickford, of this city, was accidentally killed in Tacoma on Wednesday. Mallwyd Major was brought out from England a year or so ago by Mr. Hickford to take the place of Mallwyd Bob, whom Mr. Hickford had sold. He held undisputed sway over the blue-blooded canines in Victoria for eight months and was held in high esteem by the local fancier to M. L. Davis, of Tacoma.

The report from Tacoma telling of the accident says: Champion Mallwyd Major was run over and killed by an automobile at 8th street and St. Helens avenue Wednesday morning. The heavy touring car, dashing up the hill into St. Helens avenue, going at a speed of more than 30 miles an hour, according to eye-witnesses. After running over the dog the driver of the automobile speeded up and dashed away at a rapid rate and escaped.

Mallwyd Major was taken to the office of Dr. Haynes and it was found that, in addition to the other fatal injuries, his back had been broken. He died about 20 minutes after the accident.

M. L. Davis, the Pacific avenue jeweler, owner of the dog, has offered a reward for the arrest of the driver of the automobile and will spare no expense in running him down.

Champion Mallwyd Major was probably the best known English setter in British Columbia and on the Pacific coast. He came from the noted kennels of Thomas Steadman, Dinas Meadwiddy, Merionethshire, Wales, and had won more than 40 prizes. He was a handsome blue Belton and had a phenomenal head. He was 6 years old. It will be recalled that at the Tacoma dog show two years ago Champion Mallwyd Major defeated Champion Mallwyd Bob. This was the first defeat for Mallwyd Bob. Mallwyd Major was one of the group of great English setters that came out of Mr. Steadman's kennels and which included such celebrities as Champion Mallwyd Sir, Champion Mallwyd Bob, Champion Mallwyd Ned, Champion Mallwyd Invader, Champion Mallwyd Ned II, Champion Rumney Rock and Champion Mallwyd Spiller.

MACKMEN MUCH THE HEAVIER STICKERS

World's Series Settled Question as to Whether Americans Are Better Batters

Is it a fact that the American League players are heavier hitters than the National League or are the pitchers in the National League stronger than those in the American? That is a question on which no doubt every fan in the country has cogitated seriously time and time again during the 2011 season. However, they need rack their poor brains no more, for not only did the six games between the New York Giants and the Philadelphia Athletics decide on the abiding place of the world's pennant, but it demonstrated clearly that the Americans are the better batters.

It would be unreasonable to conclude, because the Mackmen batted 50 much stronger than the McGrawites that Mattheuson and Marquard are not in the same class as Coombs and Bender. The "Big Six" has a reputation world wide as the steadiest and most reliable twirler in the game, and, although he may not be everything his supporters say he is, there is no doubt that he ranks a trifle above both the Athletic star slappers. His superiority made up for a slight inferiority in Marquard, who, though, a brilliant pitcher at times, is erratic and did not get off well in the world's series. The second string men just about break even, and therefore there is only one way to account for the marked difference in the batting records of the two teams—as batsmen the Athletics compared with the Giants as behemoths to pigmies.

As a team the Philadelphia players in the world's series batted at a 246 clip, while the Giants barely reached the 174 mark. Three of Mack's regulars batted over 300, while one lone Giant managed to creep over. The Athletics annexed 50 hits in the six games as against 33 for the Nationals.

In extra base hitting, too, the Americans showed their superiority. Fourteen two-base drives and three home runs fell to the champions, while the challengers share. Baker, the Athletic third baseman, was the home run kid and all-around star, securing two four-baggers, two doubles and five singles. He was followed closely by Barry, the Philadelphia short-stop, who grabbed four doubles and three singles. Murphy, the champions right-fielder, came up with a rush in the closing games and finished with three doubles and four singles. Second baseman Doyle led the Giants with a triple, four two-baggers and two one-baggers.

Base running was said to be the New Yorkers' forte, and yet even in that department they had nothing on their opponents. Both teams stole five bases altogether, Snodgrass and Herzog, of the Giants, each negotiating two thefts and Murray one; and Barry and Collins, of the Athletics, two each and Lord one. Taking everything into consideration there is only one way to account for the Americans' decisive victory, and it is that as a team they are about 25 per cent. better with the bat.

The players' batting averages for the six games follow:

Athletics	AB.	H.	Ave.
Baker	24	9	.375
Barry	19	7	.368

AMERICAN TENNIS CRACK IS IN CITY

Maurice McLoughlin Arrived Yesterday—Wright and Larned Coming

M. E. McLoughlin, one of the three finest tennis players in America, who is on his way from San Francisco to New Zealand to take part in the Davis Cup matches for the world's championship, arrived in Victoria yesterday afternoon on the Seattle boat. Beale Wright and W. A. Larned, the other two members of the American team, are also coming to this city, the former being due to-night and the champion on Sunday.

Victoria is indeed lucky in being chosen over Vancouver as the sojourn place of the three noted players until the Zealandia sails for Australia on Wednesday. That Victoria is the home of the Canadian champion and the fact that he, when in the east, extended a cordial invitation to the Americans to visit the city, in great measure accounts for it of course, but that they so readily and enthusiastically accepted the invitation speaks well for the city's reputation for climate and topographical beauties.

Mr. McLoughlin was met on the arrival of the boat yesterday by Irvine Schwengers, the Canadian champion, and heartily welcomed to Victoria. The local crack has apparently taken the entire work of entertainment upon his own shoulders, but, as no one is better fitted for the job, there is no doubt that the visitors will be treated to everything in the way of enjoyment that Victoria has to offer.

Providing that the weather holds good and Beale Wright arrives, this evening local tennis enthusiasts will be afforded the opportunity of seeing two of the Davis Cup team members in action at the Victoria Tennis Club grounds to-morrow afternoon. Irvine Schwengers, Captain Foulkes and Messrs. Marshall, Gamble and Macrae are some of the local players who may appear on the courts with the Americans. Even should Wright not arrive to-day McLoughlin will indulge in a practice to-morrow. In Irvine Schwengers, the Canadian champion, he would find no mean opponent.

The lawn tennis champion of America, William A. Larned, will not reach Victoria until Sunday, and will spend the two or three days intervening between then and the day the boat sails in shooting. Mr. Schwengers is arranging a short expedition for his benefit.

Discussing the Davis Cup matches yesterday, Maurice McLoughlin expressed himself as being quite confident of a victory for the American team. It is probable that C. F. Wilding will play on the Australian team, but if not the team will be composed of Rodd Heath, Alfred Dunlop, and Norman K. Brooks. The matches will be played at Christchurch, New Zealand.

SPORT NOTES

The regular weekly run of the Victoria Hunt Club is being held to-morrow afternoon at 2.30, probably starting from Lamson street.

The annual meeting of the Vancouver Island Football Association was held last evening, when the resignations of Stanley Okell as president, and Dave Tait as secretary, were accepted with regret. In their places were elected R. Adams of Ladysmith, president; and H. Wardell, of Nanaimo, secretary. Delegates were present from Nanaimo, Ladysmith and Duncan. The next meeting will be held at Nanaimo, where Victoria teams, proposing to enter, will have to send their entries.

A masquerade Rugby match will be played on the Canteen grounds to-morrow afternoon, between a fifteen from H. M. C. S. Rainha and one from the Imperial navy ships at Esquimalt. The match will commence at 5 p. m. No admission fee will be charged.

The Challenger & Mitchell golf cup competition has been postponed until November 11. The monthly medal competition between members of the Golf Club starts to-morrow. On Monday there will be a mixed foursome event, competitors to choose partners and to arrange for opponents. Post entries will be open to members and those who are up for election.

Jack Herman, manager of Zbyszko, has received word that the big Polish wrestler will arrive in New York this month. He is a passenger on the Augusta Victoria, which sailed from Hamburg on October 23. Zbyszko comes to America, Herman declares, with the avowed purpose of forcing Gatch into a match for the world's championship title. Forfeit money will be put up in New York.

The members of the Sons of England football club are requested to be present at a practice to be held at Macaulay Point grounds to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

A communication to the Times from an anonymous writer says:—Amongst the clever football players in Victoria G. S. Eden stands well to the fore. He is 5 feet 6 inches in height and tips the scales at 9 stones 6 lbs. Eden was well known in the Old Country Manchester league as the "Penalty King," and was acknowledged the finest outside left in the league. At the early age of 12 he was given a trial with the Manchester City school eleven, and very quickly got a regular position on the team. He is not signed yet by any club in Victoria, but several are anxious to secure his services.

The youngest registered athlete in the United States is Richard Baxter, son of Hugh H. Baxter, the ex-champion pole vaulter and millionaire. Richard was born early this week in New York and an A. A. U. registration card was issued for him before he was 24 hours old. His proposer was Capt. Matthew Halpin, of New York A. C., and his name was seconded by Secretary Robert Cameron, of the same club. In his prime Hugh Baxter held the American championship and the world's record for a number of years in the old style of vaulting with shifting feet. He covered 11 feet 6 inches, which was regarded as a wonderful performance.

The suspension of the Vancouver Athletic Club lacrosse team for playing in the Mann cup series will be considered at the adjourned annual meeting of the executive of the British Columbia Amateur Athletic Union, which will be held on Saturday, November 11, at Vancouver. Nothing will be done towards lifting the suspension, however, until the Canadian Union acts first.

Rumors that there was a probability of the Wolgast-Welsh scrap scheduled for Thanksgiving Day being called off, were effectively disposed of Wednesday when Promoter Thomas J. McCarey received word from Wolgast that the lightweight champion would leave for Los Angeles about November 1. Freddie Welsh has his $1,000 forfeit up and Wolgast wired McCarey that if he was getting nervous his forfeit money would be forwarded at once.

Bron Long, Welsh's representative, has promised McCarey to have his man in Los Angeles before November 15.

Gayle Jervis, star Gonzaga twirler, who signed a Vancouver Northwestern League contract this season, declares emphatically that he will not play professional baseball, either with Brown's Beavers or any other club.

Charles Graham, of the Sacramento club of the Pacific Coast League, has become chief stockholder of that club by the purchase of the interest of Jno. T. Taylor, of the Boston American club. Graham now has 14,000 of the 25,000 shares of the company.

PROTEST MADE BY S. O. E. DISALLOWED

McGregor Suspended for Four Playing Dates—Baines Censured for Striking Man

After considerable discussion at the meeting of the Victoria and District Soccer Association last evening it was decided to disallow the protest of last Saturday's game between the S. O. E. and Wards, made by the former. The Sons of England claimed that Thomas, who played for the Wards, was not in Victoria the requisite number of days previous to the game.

This was not proven, but as the result of the inquiry, a doubt arose as to whether Thomas had signed the required form, although his name appeared on one. On being asked to write his name in order that the delegates might compare the two signatures he refused and at first it seemed as if the protest would be upheld on this account. A motion that it be allowed was made and a vote being taken, two were for and two against. The president was then called upon to give his casting vote and, taking into consideration all the facts of the case, he did not think they warranted his taking the side of the "ayes," and accordingly the protest was thrown out. The protest fee was returned to the Sons of England.

With regard to the incident, which occurred in the S. O. E. Ward game at the Royal Athletic park last Saturday, when Goalkeeper Baines of the Wards struck Atwell, of the Sons of England, and McGregor, on the side lines, rushed in to help Baines, the association decided to suspend McGregor, who is a member of the Ward club, for four playing dates and to censure Baines. The former's case was considered by far the more serious of the two and he had no incentive for his action other than a desire to assist his club mate. The secretary of the association was instructed to write Baines, informing him that he had been reported for misbehavior on the football field and that if his name came before the association again for any offence that would be held against him.

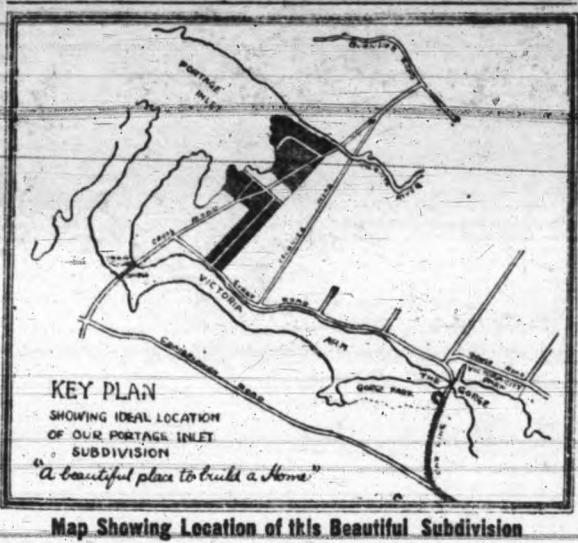

The Sons of England were also warned against using bad language on the field.

THE PASSING SHOW

Empress Theatre.

Edward Clark, the noted character impersonator, continues to please audiences at the Empress theatre with his presentation of an old bachelor, a chorus girl and a street urchin. His success has been based on perfect character delineation. Richard Hamilton is singing medleys of his own composition. The sketch, "Ambition," offered by Carlyle Moore and Ethelwyn Palmer is a strong dramatic act giving the artists much scope for their talents. The two roses offer an interesting musical act, and Charles Montrell is presenting a high class juggling act.

Majestic Theatre.

"The Romance of Pond Cove," one of the best love stories of the year, will be shown to-day and to-morrow. Arthur Moore loses his fortune and with it Ethel, the girl he loves. He goes away to forget to work. In later years he returns, a prosperous engineer and wins the hand of Flo, Ethel's little sister, who had been his staunch friend in the time of trouble. "For the Sake of the Tribe" is an Indian story of the western badlands. "The Backwoodsman's Suspicion" is a film in which Miss Fields as Mrs. Walker, the picture's heroine, does some very sensational riding down a very steep and dangerous by-path in mountainous country. This ride is done at high speed. She is hurrying to overtake her husband, who with a saved-off shotgun and a heart black with unjust suspicion is riding fast before her. She overtakes him and prevents a tragedy. The biograph presents two comedy pictures entitled "The Baron" and "The Villain Follies." This programme will greatly please many people.

TURKISH NATIONAL HYMN.

The Ottoman patriotic hymn, the first two stanzas of which the following lines are a literal translation, were during the last sign rigorously tabooed. On the proclamation of the constitution, however, the tune to which it was set was everywhere performed by military bands to enthusiastic crowds, composed of Christians as well as of Moslems, and errand boys filled the streets of the capital with its whistled strains.

To the glory of our country dear are all our efforts vowed; On the ashes of her sons is built each frontier fortress proud. Yea, as Ottomans we live or die, our badge the crimson shroud.

Chorus: As martyrs die, our hearts desire to attain. We're Ottomans, our lives we give high glory to attain.

Still the bloodstained sword unsheathed our banners blazoned bear; The fear of death upon our hills and valleys walked bathed there; But a lion at each corner of our empire watcheth e'er.

Chorus: As Martyrs, etc. This Ottoman national anthem forms part of the Turkish dramatic poem "Sillatri" by Kemal Bey, founded on incidents of the Crimean war.

NEGLECTED CHILDREN.

W. C. T. U. Discusses Important Subject at Interesting Parlor Meeting.

At the home of Mrs. T. Kirby, Gorge road, the W. C. T. U. held a pleasant parlor meeting yesterday. Mrs. Williscroft, the president, presided. There was a large attendance and the afternoon was taken up with readings by Mrs. Gordon Grant and Miss Bromley-Jubb, and a pleasing musical programme. Mrs. Grant's paper on "Work of the Neglected Children" was very interesting, and gave a comprehensive idea of what should be done for the unfortunate boy or girl under sixteen who has not either family or proper home influence. She also mentioned the fact that Victoria has a home for such children, and also that the unfortunate children of this city, at present only fourteen in number at the home, were receiving just such care as was needed in many of the other cities in the province. Miss Bromley-Jubb's paper, "Am I My Brother's Keeper?" dealt in an interesting manner with the condition of the working girl and boy who is without a home. Mrs. Parson sang a well received solo, and Miss Williscroft was heard in two pleasing piano-forte solos. Mrs. Williscroft gave some interesting details to the ladies present in connection to the men's mission and the advisability of having more space for the more needy. She stated that at present a good many men were turned away each night on account of lack of accommodation. The members voted Mrs. Gordon Grant to the building committee, and it was decided that the ladies should see that the proper advancement was made immediately for the men.

The members understood that work already done by the committee and requested them to proceed at once with the suggested plans. After the meeting tea was served.

With the return of the ministers from the moving was possible to hold a sitting of the executive council yesterday. A number of matters were dealt with, and another session will be held to-day. All the ministers were present except Hon. W. H. Ross, who is in Ontario. The two principal appointments open in the service, that of King's Printer, void by the death of Lieut.-Col. Wolfenden, and of Chief Inspector of Mines, vacant by the resignation of F. H. Shepherd, since elected M. P. for the Nanaimo federal seat, have not been filled, though it is probable some action will be taken before the Premier and Attorney-General leave for Ottawa.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL.

Ministers Hold Long Session—Two Principal Vacancies Still Open.

The executive decided, on the recommendation of John Kirkup, magistrate in the Yellowhead district, to appoint four magistrates for the section of the country between the Rockies and Port George, to be served by the G. T. F. M. Kirkup is contemplating returning on his special mission to preserve order in the construction camps.

Among the appointments made are those of F. J. Jones and George Moore, of this city as commissioners under the election acts, and F. C. Fulton, of Strawberry Vale, for Saanich. R. H. Cheyne, the

TWENTY-SIX LOTS have been sold in OUR PORTAGE INLET subdivision. Considering the fact that this property is on the market only 3 days (one of which was a wet one) it would seem that this subdivision offers more than usual attractions to the investing public. It does. There is no property on the market at the present time which will make more desirable homesites than these beautiful large waterfronts on Portage Inlet.

Most of these lots are larger than QUARTER ACRES and are beautifully situated, commanding a beautiful view of the Inlet and surrounding country. They cannot be improved upon from a homesite standpoint.

Waterfronts are daily becoming scarcer (especially close to the city) and values are enhancing quickly. This fact also places these waterfronts in the front rank of investment opportunities. There is big value in these lots.

AUTOMOBILES COLLIDE.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 27.—Twelve persons, three women, seven children, patients from the children's hospital, and two men, were more or less injured yesterday in a head-on automobile collision in Golden Gate park. The machine in which the children were out for an airing, a Limousine, remained upright, but its windows were smashed and the children cut by flying glass. The other car turned over, throwing its five occupants to the ground. Edward Chase fell beneath the car and was pinned across the chest. The life-saving crew from the Ocean Beach station finally got him out, after almost tearing the wrecked machine to pieces.

MUST CHANGE RATES.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 27.—At the conclusion yesterday of the arguments in the Pacific coast cases the commerce court declined to grant a temporary injunction in the Salt Lake case at the request of the trans-continental carriers. The interstate commerce commission issued an order requiring the trans-continental railways to adjust their rates to Utah and Nevada points so as to avoid discrimination in favor of Pacific coast terminals to become effective November 15. The other cases, including the long-pending Spokane rail case, in which the railroads have asked for an injunction to prevent the commission from enforcing its orders, probably will be decided in a few days.

Dier, of Ladysmith, is in town visiting relatives and friends.

Miss Lillian Clarke, who has been a guest of Mrs. Norcross, of Vancouver, returned home Tuesday.

C. E. Adams, of the Fidelity Securities

Co., has returned from a business tour of the Nicola district.

Mr. Justice Morrison arrived yesterday in the city from the mainland, and registered at the Empress hotel.

Hon. and Mrs. Price Ellison, of Vernon, entertained during last week Mrs.

McFarland.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. McFarland

are the guests of Mrs. McFarland's parents, Mr. McFarland is assistant manager of Frederick Buscombe & Co.,

Ltd., Vancouver, and has just completed a tour of the important cities of the Island.

The first guest day at the Alexandra club, which was held yesterday afternoon, was a success. Many of the members and their guests were disappointed in the unfortunate delay of the Welsh ladies' choir, the members of which were to be guests of honor during the afternoon.

The East End Athletic Club will hold their opening dance on the evening of November 3rd, at the A. O. U. W. hall.

The hall is to be decorated in an artistic manner. The committee in charge are: C. Baker, N. Nooking, F.

Levy, W. Pynn, W. Pridham and W.

Monks.

Lewis Cuthbertson, of Ottawa, and Miss Margaret T. Jones, of this city, were united in marriage by Rev. Joseph

McCoy at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Jones, last evening. The bride's attendants were younger sisters, Miss Frances and Miss

Molly Jones, and the groomsmen were

Mr. J. L. Jones. After the reception

Mr. and Mrs. Cuthbertson left for Vancouver en route to Ottawa.

A visitor from Glasgow at the Empress hotel is William Lees, of James T. Donald & Co. Ltd., one of the large-est iron and steel firms in the Clyde city, who is paying his first visit to Western Canada, and is most pleasur-ably impressed with the opportunities which British Columbia affords to the investor, and he hopes to do something along the line for his firm while on the coast. He has spent several days in the cities of the lower mainland renewing acquaintances with old friends from Scotland, and arrived here on the evening boat to spend to-day in the city.

A very pretty musicale was given last night in the parlors of the Y. W.

C. A. A large number of the girls collected and enjoyed the affair very much.

After you pass a shop window try to recall as many articles as possible.

See if you can tell what color all the houses on your street or in your immediate neighborhood are.

Try to recall what are the objects of furniture in some friend's living room.

Look at your desk or your bureau for a few seconds and then shut your eyes and see if you can correctly enumerate every article upon it.

Another interesting experiment is to look at some familiar object very intently and see if you cannot discover something about it that you never noticed before.

In nine cases out of ten you can.

The other day I was obliged to wait for a train in a very unpleasant spot where the most interesting things to look at were half a dozen pigeons which were strutting up and down the track, pecking up some grain which had providentially overflowed from a freight car.

I looked at those pigeons as I had never looked at pigeons before and soon I noticed the most peculiar combinance between the motion of the feet and the motion of the head. It seemed as if they must be fastened together by some internal spring. Now

I've carefully looked at pigeons a thousand times before, but I never noticed that, because I never really observed them intently.

We fret at monotony of scenes. We complain that we cannot afford to travel and see distant lands. But how few of us really look at our own land,

our own town, our own street and neighborhood with anything like seeing eyes.

B. C. MAY SOLVE IRISH QUESTION

Significant Inquiries From Ulster May Have Source in Irish Home Rule Movement

The agitation against Home Rule in Ireland which the Ulster Unionists have already commenced by their monster meeting at Craigavon, near Belfast, when Sir Edward Carson, solicitor-general in the last Balfour ministry, was duly installed as leader of the Irish Unionist parliamentary party, is likely to have a direct effect on the settlement of Vancouver Island, strange as it may seem.

In several well informed Old Country Unionist organs statements have been made from time to time recently that with the coming of Home Rule, which is now regarded in a different light to what it was in 1886 and 1888, the general opinion of men not blinded by partisan opinion is that some measure will pass the British parliament after probably as bitter an agitation as occurred on the two previous occasions, and the extreme Unionists will be called upon to decide whether they will revolt or quietly leave the country.

The language used at the meeting referred to above was bitter enough to incite uninformed persons to mutiny, but it is doubtful how far action would follow the threats. The Irish Protestants are descended from that class of which the Puritans and Covenanters were made, and their religious prejudices are irreconcilable. In consequence of which inquiries are quietly being made with regard to the chance for the emigration overseas of some of the more irreconcilable. Letters in considerable numbers have been received recently at the offices of the publicity organizations in British Columbia asking for information about the country, dated from cities and country districts in Ulster, and especially around Belfast.

To the Orangemen Canada must offer special attractions owing to the strength of the movement in the Dominion, there being more Orange lodges in Toronto than in any other place in the world, except Belfast, and the remarkable popularity of British Columbia and this Island has rendered it the land of hope for these political objectors, as New Brunswick was the promised land for the United Empire Loyalists over a century ago.

Those who are qualified to judge seriously think there may be something in the coincidence of these inquiries from the North of Ireland, and that if the Emerald Isle is threatened with civil dissension it may lead to a considerable flow of settlement to this province and to Vancouver Island. The lessons of history have shown strange migrations, and the attractiveness of the province may cause it to become the Mecca for the discontented Unionists, as it has become in many cases already for the capital released by the sales of Irish estates to the Congested Districts Board. There was recently a gentleman from the county of Mayo in Victoria for the purpose of investing in this province the proceeds of the sale of his paternal estate to this board, and he said at the time that others were doing the same thing.

PREMIER M'BRIDE TO VISIT OTTAWA

South Saanich Conservatives
Celebrate F. H. Shepherd's Victory at Royal Oak Hall

Premier McBride is to leave for Ottawa on Wednesday next to take up the question of better terms with the Dominion Government. Dr. H. E. Young, minister of education in the provincial house, speaking at a Conservative meeting held in the Royal Oak hall last night said he was able to make the announcement, and that the premier was now going to prove that his attitude in the past had been no grandstand play.

The meeting was a smoker to celebrate the victory of F. H. Shepherd, M. P. elect for Nanaimo, over Ralph Smith. There were several speakers and several singers. The electors of the Saanich municipality, like those Conservatives who were present in a recent meeting at Victoria, took more interest in the Scotch comedian, Will Lochrane, than in the eloquence of the orators. Lochrane practically held the boards as long as he liked. At one time he kept the show going for half an hour with song and joke and the audience still wanted more of him.

Hon. D. M. Eberts presided and spoke on the last campaign, saying that history had been made the effect of which would be more apparent to the future generations.

F. H. Shepherd, M. P. elect for Nanaimo made reference to the question of civil servants in reference to election campaigns. Mr. Shepherd was of the opinion that civil servants should not be dismissed because of a change in the government unless they had been offensively partisan. He referred also to the fishery industry of British Columbia, and said that it, and the Island's mail service, would receive his attention. He would urge that the mail contracts be given to the C. B. R.

Hon. Dr. Young, speaking for the government, made the announcement of the premier's journey to Ottawa, and said that under the present administration the province had come from bankruptcy to prosperity and now had a balance of $10,000,000 to its credit. The government had spent judiciously and honestly. He felt sure that the Borden government would keep a clean house. He presented the premier's regrets for being unable to be present. Other speakers were heard, and songs were heard from Messrs. Jasper, Ball, Critchley, Paulgrave and Reed.

The deputation of the corporation of Edinburgh which visited Leeds and Bradford to inspect the railless system of traction in these towns, in their report say that there are many suburban streets and roads where the system would be eminently suitable within the city boundaries.

THE ADVANCE MAN

"The Third Degree," the approach of Charles Klein's great drama, "The Third Degree," which is to appear here at the Opera House, to-night, may bring with it some conjecture as to the meaning of the title. Not all theatregoers are familiar through one source or another with conditions as they exist in certain United States police circles, nor are they acquainted with the evils of a much-abused system of preliminary inquiry too frequently employed by the police in questioning a suspected person. This system is known as the "Third Degree." The more modern idea of the third degree constitutes a long, trying series of questions with or without some form of physical torture, but never without some mental shock or discomfort.

The third degree as used in the sixteenth century was worked only by means of physical torture, as in the Spanish Inquisition. Later, in France, a crime was enacted as it was supposed to have been committed, before the suspect which necessarily called for many gruesome spectacles without any real assurance of a correct "confession." This system was known as "The Reconstruction," and is still in vogue in France to-day though in a milder form.

"Paradise of Mahomet."

The Parisian comic opera bouffe, "The Paradise of Mahomet," in which Miss Grace Van Studdiford will appear at the Victoria Theatre on Monday night could very properly be announced as "a treat for the eye and ear." Manager Daniel V. Arthur evidently gave carte blanche to the scenic artists and costumers, for he has obtained—some bewilderingly beautiful results in both scenes of the opera, which are laid on one of the quays at Constantinople and before the palace of a Turkish prince. Miss Van Studdiford and a splendid company of singing principals and chorus supply the treat for the ear, for their spirited rendition of the melodic numbers of the brilliant French composer, Robert Planquette, "The Paradise of Mahomet," comes here after a highly successful engagement at the Herald Square Theatre, New York, last season. This will be the first engagement here of Miss Van Studdiford since her triumphant appearance in "Red Feather" several seasons ago.

"Rich Mr. Hoggendelmer."

Possibly the most important attraction of the present theatrical season at the Victoria Theatre is the engagement of Max Dill and his splendid company in the famous musical comedy The Rich Mr. Hoggendelmer on Tuesday next. Competent critics declare the work of Mr. Dill to be the funniest and best thing he has ever attempted. Max Dill has enjoyed a wonderful season since starting alone his success has been phenomenal. While he was only confined his time and talent to the coast exclusively for a number of years it is Mr. Dill's intention of taking ing the Rich Mr. Hoggendelmer east and appearing on Broadway late this winter. The Rich Mr. Hoggendelmer is an original, piquant musical comedy. The costumes, scenery, electrical effects are all new and the musical numbers are acknowledged to be the greatest of their kind. The cast is a collection of well known theatrical celebrities, with a chorus whose fame is synonymous with the title of the comedy. The critics of the coast have praised this production until its fame is second to none. The public which pays its good money to be entertained at the theatre has seen, marveled and commended in highest terms. It is conceded to be better than the seasons best.

"The Girl, the Man, and the Game." The musical comedy feast served in two courses) with Billy "Single" Clifford in the leading role will be the offering at the Victoria Theatre on Wednesday, November 1. The play is bright and breezy, full of ridiculous situations caused by Billy (as Charlie Pointer) who to get financial assistance from his rich Uncle Camarole in the Philippines, tells him that he is married and has a baby daughter. The rich uncle who is possessed of the globe trotting fever decides to visit his nephew, and the letter which was to inform them of his coming delayed, he arrives very unexpectedly upon the scene; Billy just has to have a wife so he borrows the wife of his friend to whose sister he is betrothed. Many are the complications which arise therefrom, but the merriest one is, when the uncle asks for the infant, Clifford having neglected to mention to his friends that the had told uncle he had a child also, once more the friend Dr. Morry is appealed to and whether for revenge at having to stand idly by and see his wife carried off by another or just out of pure spite of fun, the doctor produces the baby, but it is of the unbleached American type. This causes further complications all of which keep Charlie in "hot water" all the time. The doctor growing weary of the deception goes to the French Ball and invokes the aid of Charlie to help him square himself for remaining away from home all night. As usual Charlie makes a bundle of the explanation, causing a rupture between the doctor and his wife. Finally finding that further elaborate lies are useless the uncle is enlightened as to the truth of the condition of affairs and forgives all of their deceptions and all's well that ends well.

Billy has surrounded himself with an excellent company.

ROMANCE OF GIFT HORSE.

How King George's Mount Was Traced
To Its Pedigree.

The King, before leaving London for Newmarket recently, inspected the horse "Brisbane" presented to his Majesty by the Government of Queensland. The animal, which reached the Royal mews in the morning, is a fine upstanding bay of about 16 hands with black points, and the King appeared highly pleased with it.

The presentation of the horse was brought about in a singular way. On the occasion of the procession through London on May 20, 1910, the day of the funeral of the late King Edward, his Majesty rode his black charger Rupert. This horse bears on its near shoulder the brand "2 G. D." and it chanced that in a striking press photograph showing the King and the German Emperor riding side by side, the brand shows up very distinctly.

The photograph was widely published, and an Australian visitor to London immediately recognized the brand as one used by his father a Queensland farmer.

Inquiries proved that Rupert was, in fact, an Australian horse. The King, it seems, acquired the animal when in India in 1905-6. It was then the property of a cavalry officer, and was lent to his Majesty, who took a liking to it, and eventually purchased it. When these matters were brought to light, the Queensland Government decided to ask his Majesty's acceptance of another horse born and bred

In the colony, and the arrival of "Brisbane" is the result. The statement that "Brisbane" is to be taken to India is not correct. All the horses which the King will use in India are being trained in that country.—London Chronicle.

If a man's mind is fully occupied he has no time to be miserable.

At Newcastle, Eng., a cabman named John Boddy, aged 42, was fined 10s. and costs, being charged with having been asleep while driving a two-horse cab. It was stated that the accused was bringing up the rear of a funeral procession sitting on the box seat asleep, with his head rolling from side to side.

FEDERAL GRAND JURY MAY INVESTIGATE

Report From Indianapolis of New Inquiry Into Los Angeles Explosion

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 27.—Reports from Indianapolis yesterday that a special grand jury would investigate the so-called McNamara dynamiting cases supplied a theme for consideration by counsel for the defence of John J. and James B. McNamara and attracted attention in the office of District Attorney John D. Fredericks. Clarence S. Darrow, chief of counsel for the defence, telegraphed to Indianapolis for more information. A full court procedure yesterday while a new venire was being summoned, gave opportunity for consideration of the situation. It was conceded that the whole general aspect of the case might be altered by prospective action of the federal authorities, and that James B. McNamara and John J. McNamara, under nineteen indictments for murder in connection with the destruction of the Los Angeles Times building might enter upon an entirely changed legal status.

Two main situations were regarded here last night as possible to result from the Indianapolis investigation. It was admitted in the first place that the investigation, regardless of its outcome, might make it easier for the prosecution to institute proceedings by which to obtain certain books and records which the Indiana authorities have refused to give up. This evidence is much desired by District Attorney Fredericks, and back of it was said to have been one of the reasons why James B. McNamara's case was tried first.

The second possibility also has to do with the fact that the state elected to try James first instead of John. The trial now in session may take well into next summer, during which time John J. McNamara ordinarily would be kept in jail here, except for the periods when he might be called to testify, a witness in his brother's defence—a possibility which has been considered without eliciting any statement from the defence.

Should an indictment result from the Indianapolis investigation, there is a legal possibility that he would be taken back there. This could be done under order from a United States commissioner after a hearing instituted upon receipt of a certified copy of the indictment. Such action would raise again the question of McNamara's extradition from Indiana to California.

Attorneys and others interested in the McNamara cases speculated as to whether, when the federal grand jury took charge of the evidence, a petition for its possession by the Los Angeles authorities would lie in the federal court. It was said that the federal grand jury inquiry would be to ascertain if a statute against conspiracy to transport from one state to another dynamite for unlawful purpose had been violated.

STRATHCONA'S FLYING TRIP.
Made Journey From London to Winnipeg and Back in 17 Days.

A journey to Winnipeg and back, over 10,000 miles, in 17 days is the record established at the age of 91 by Lord Strathcona, high commissioner for Canada. Accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Howard, Lord Strathcona arrived in London in the Mauretania special train. He looked none the worse for his long journey and walked briskly from the train to his waiting motor car.

"It is wonderful what a lot you can get through in a few days with these fast trains and boats," he said to a Daily Mail representative. "I've had a splendid voyage in a splendid boat. I am very well and have enjoyed my trip." Complimented on his achievement at 91 years of age he said: "That is nothing. In a few years I do not see why people should not look on a man of 90 as only middle-aged."

A rough sketch of the veteran statesman's itinerary shows the following mileage:

London to Liverpool and back	402
Liverpool to New York and back	6,072
New York to Winnipeg	1,800
Winnipeg to Ottawa	1,300
Ottawa to Montreal	101
Montreal to New York	420

Lord Strathcona sailed in the Mauretania on September 23. From New York he went direct to Winnipeg, where he attended a meeting of the Hudson's Bay Company. Returning to Ottawa he called on Earl Grey, the retiring governor-general. Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mr. Borden. On Tuesday, October 2, as chancellor, he visited the McGill University, Montreal, where the students gave him an uproarious send-off the same evening for London, via New York. He arrived home within seven days of his departure from Montreal—a little over 45 days since he left.

It is 73 years since Lord Strathcona, as Donald Alexander Smith, set forth from Scotland on his first voyage across the Atlantic. He was then beginning his career with the Hudson's Bay Company, and took with him a leather trunk bearing the initials "D. A. S." This same old trunk was in Lord Strathcona's baggage. It has crossed the Atlantic just as many times as its owner.

DIES SUDDENLY.

Kamloops, Oct. 26.—Charles Johnston of Marble Canyon died at his home from heart disease. He was feeding his horses in the early morning and feeling chilly went into the house to put on his coat. As he turned to go out to the stables again he dropped dead on the floor.

Building of Electric Line in the Okanagan Valley Will Be of Immense Benefit

Vancouver, Oct. 27.—There is much satisfaction in the Okanagan Valley over the announcement that Sir William Mackenzie will start the construction next spring of an electric railway in that valley. During a recent visit there the railway magnate required control of a charter as well as a water power capable of developing sufficient electrical energy for all requirements.

The news was especially gratifying to farmers and fruit growers, as the proposed line, which completed, will greatly facilitate the distribution of the products of their farms and orchards, according to R. H. Agur, a prominent fruit grower of Summerland, who is in Vancouver. "A careful estimate shows that there are 1,200,000 apple, peach, cherry, plum and pear trees in the valley and now orchards are constantly being planted," observed the visitor. "Summerland alone is credited with 300,000 trees. It has the best domestic waterworks system in the valley. The installation having taken place seven years ago at a cost of $75,000. The assessed value of the fruit farms in that vicinity at a low valuation is $2,000,000, exclusive of irrigation systems worth an additional $300,000. The apple show recently held at Summerland was a great success and resulted in a splendid display of fruit, only second in importance and size to that assembled at last year's apple fair in Vancouver. Our fruit growers will send an exhibit to the Spokane fruit fair, where they have successfully won many honors.

"The trees throughout the valley are now in bud, and if conditions prove favorable during the winter there is no reason in view of the increased acreage coming into bearing, why the valley should not ship 1,000 carloads of fruit next season. Quite a large shipment of selected apples were exported to Australia this fall."

RECORD TRIP.

"To ride a distance of one hundred and twenty miles from Charlotte City to Massett in twenty-three hours with out changing horses—most of the way during a blinding storm—is the record of horsemanship made by J. S. Cowper of Prince Rupert, accompanied by Mexican Tom, the cow puncher of Oyandia River, says the Prince Rupert News. The trip has always been considered a good three days' ride, and when the party left Charlotte City at 10:30 a.m., on Tuesday to catch the Prince John at Massett on Thursday noon, it was freely prophesied that they were attempting the impossible.

"It was decided to make one day's ride, and then after a rest to make a day brought the party to Walsh's ranch at the 44th river, after seven and a half hours' ride over the new trail from Charlotte City. From 44th, which was left at 8 a.m., Mexican Tom's was made at 2:50 p.m. The storm by that time had arisen and the Mexican's horse was all in. After a rest till 4 p.m. to allow of fording the tidal rivers, a start was again made at the height of the storm to make a night ride along the coast to How Hill.

"Only one accident occurred, when Mexican Tom's horse fell in jumping a log in the darkness. Rounding Rose Spit in the storm and darkness the travellers trusted to the horses finding the trail. Smith's store at Tow Hill was reached at 1:15 a.m. after fording the Hellen river, the riders being drenched to the skin. A fresh start was made at 7:45 on the last stretch to Massett, which was reached at 11:15. The Prince John, which was storm-bound, did not arrive till late in the evening.

The record is expected to stand for many years to come.

Are Microbes in Your Scalp?
It Has Been Proved That Microbes Cause Baldness.

Professor Unna of Hamburg, Germany, and Dr. Sabouraud, the leading French dermatologist, discovered that a microbe causes baldness. Their theory has time and again been amply verified through research experiments carried on under the observation of eminent scientists. This microbe lodges in the scalp, which is the natural hair oil, and when permitted to flourish it destroys the hair follicles and in time the pores entirely close, and the scalp gradually takes on a shiny appearance. When this happens there is no hope of the growth of hair being revived.

We have a remedy which will, we honestly believe, remove dandruff, exterminate the microbe, promote good circulation in the scalp and around the hair roots, tighten and revitalize the hair roots, and overcome baldness, so long as there is any life left in the hair roots.

We back up this statement with our own personal guarantee that this remedy called Rexall "93" Hair Tonic will be supplied free of all cost to the user if it fails to do as we state.

It will frequently help to restore gray and faded hair to its original color, providing loss of color has been caused by disease; yet it is in no sense a dye. Rexall "93" Hair Tonic accomplishes these results by aiding in making every hair root, follicle, and pigment gland strong and active, and by stimulating a natural flow of coloring pigment throughout the hair cells.

We exact no obligations or promises. We simply ask you to give Rexall "93" Hair Tonic a thorough trial and, if not satisfied, tell us and we will refund the money you paid us for it. Two sizes, prices 50 cents and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain it in Victoria only at our store—The Rexall Store, D. E. Campbell, Druggist, corner Fort and Douglas.

THE BORDEN-MONK COMPACT.

It is a little difficult to know what ought to be done about the bye-election through which Mr. Monk must pass before his cabinet standing is fully established. The general disposition undoubtedly is to accept the verdict of the general election as between the Liberals and the Conservatives, and to let the new ministers be re-elected. But in Mr. Monk's case that is not quite the whole story. If it were, we should have had Mr. Casgrain and Mr. Forget as Conservative ministers instead of Mr. Pelletier and Mr. Nantel. The appointment of these latter, with Mr. Monk, means that for the purposes of Quebec Mr. Borden has chosen a Nationalist alliance rather than regular Conservative support. Such a move, as that calls for explanation, especially when, on a present issue, Mr. Monk and Mr. Borden were in open disagreement up to the time Mr. Monk and the two associates entered the Borden cabinet. They could not do that without some change in the relationship. Now the question is, have Mr. Monk's electors the right to know in what the change consists? If they know, would his supporters still support him?

Whatever the answer to these questions, it would seem to be rather the business of Conservatives than of Liberals to get them answered. The Liberals of Canada are united in support of the navy bill as it actually exists. It is their opponents who have been unable to agree. If those who know what Mr. Monk's course has been see fit to let him go back now, they cannot claim afterwards that he is without their mandate. If the Ghosts, the old Conservatives, see fit to let the three Nationalist candidates go unchallenged, they cannot complain afterwards.

We may suppose that neither Mr. Monk nor Mr. Borden will be in any haste to announce the terms of their compromise, or whatever it is. To do so might not only prejudice the chances of Mr. Monk but also of Mr. White and Mr. Cochrane, who are threatened with defeat because Mr. Monk has been taken into the cabinet. If they ever manage it, the fall-out over the navy will be postponed just as long as possible. But that cannot be very long, because there are some very important contracts which have to be disposed of one way or the other. Then we shall know, if we cannot ascertain now, whether Mr. Monk has the moral right to a place in the Borden cabinet. If Conservatives want earlier assurance, they have the means to get it—Montreal Herald.

The London Lancet says that sardines are to be recommended only for the oil which they contain, even if the sardines are boring and the oil peanut or cottonseed oil. Most people, says the eminent authority, neglect to take sufficient oil, which offsets the injurious effects of excessive protein ingestion and is otherwise beneficial. It is not to be supposed that the addition of uncleaned herring or sprats or even of the genuine sardine of Sardina improves the oil. Olive or peanut oil can be obtained more easily than sardines and with less liability of substitution.

BLOODHOUNDS FIND BODY.

Woman Commits Suicide by Jumping From Pipeline Trestle.

Port Townsend, Wash., Oct. 27.—Bloodhounds from the sheriff's office of King county Wednesday followed the trail to the body of Mrs. J. O. Whitmarsh, who disappeared on Tuesday from the Northwestern sanitarium near here, and brought about the recovery of the body. Mrs. Whitmarsh apparently had committed suicide by leaping from a trestle into the Sound.

Mrs. Whitmarsh was the wife of the superintendent and part owner of a logging railway at Burlington. She was at the sanitarium for treatment of mental trouble. She and her son, Joe, had been living in a tent on the sanitarium grounds. Tuesday noon she asked her son to go on an errand to the hospital office. When the son returned his mother was gone.

Deputy Sheriff Joe Hill, from Seattle, accompanied Mr. Whitmarsh to Port Townsend Wednesday, bringing with him two bloodhounds. The dogs took the scent at once and led the searchers first to a deserted cabin, where it is believed Mrs. Whitmarsh lay concealed. From this point they followed the trail out over a pipeline trestle, where the oil tank ships unload their fuel for the hospital. The body was found on the beach nearby.

LABOR SURPLUS IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

Officers of Employment and Statistical Bureau Publish Warning in English Paper

According to the B. C. Employment and Statistical Bureau, a labor department of the Victoria trades unions, there were on August 18 last thousands of men in British Columbia out of employment, and the bureau in an effort to save the work in the province for those who are here, and to prevent disappointment to those who might come from England to Victoria to obtain employment, sent a communication to John Bull, a labor paper published in England. That publication refers to the letter in the following words:

"We have received a letter from the British Columbia Employment and Statistical Bureau, of Victoria, British Columbia, dated August 18. The bureau asks us to warn intending emigrants that this is not a favorable time for going to British Columbia. There are thousands there now out of employment. Owing to a widespread depression in the American coast cities of Seattle, Tacoma, Spokane and San Francisco, hundreds are entering this province, which means a congested labor market, likely to assume alarming proportions when labor now employed in the fisheries, mining, logging, road construction and building industries ceases work for the winter. Rents and cost of living are out of all proportion to the wage offered. The government has no land policy, and the crown lands are in the hands of speculators at prices impossible to a settler.

"The truth is, the provincial government has played into the hands of the railway companies by flooding British Columbia with a large surplus of labor."

"The same issue of John Bull also contains the following article: 'Canadian Emigrants Beware—Winter Coming—A Grim Warning.' 'Putting political matters aside, there is too much reason to believe that the coming winter will be the very blackest time in the history of the Dominion. There will be weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth. The farmers will be driven from the Atlantic to the Pacific. All progress will stop; the farmers will not be able to meet their obligations towards the traders who have to depend upon their crops for their payment; hundreds of thousands of people will not be able to find employment, and will have to resort to crime to make ends meet—even as hundreds in the cities and towns have to resort to sand-bagging and highway robbery and burglary at the present moment to keep things going. Wait and see if it will not be the blackest time in all the history of the Siberia to which so many thousands of our underemployed people are enticed.'"

"The bureau is located at the Trades' hall, Douglas street. Its officers are C. Thompson, manager; C. McEachern, president; and Phil R. Smith, secretary. The officers act as advisory board to the British Columbia Federation of Labor, and in interviews bear out the statements of the letter, maintaining that they are true.

According to figures quoted by J. C. Forrest at Birmingham, the cases of conscription in the mining industry are fewer by fifty per cent. than in any other calling.

Sweden and Spain have fewer foreign residents than any other nation.

C. P. R. BRANCH LINES

Over 150 Miles of New Track Will Be Opened in Saskatchewan Next Month.

Montreal, Oct. 27.—What is probably the largest of the new branch lines which the Canadian Pacific has built this year will be opened for traffic November 5. This is the Regina-Colonsay branch. Another branch to be opened on the same day is a sub-line which leaves the big branch at Vaseport Junction, 24 miles from Regina, and runs to Bullock. From Regina to Colonsay it is 132 miles, while from Vaseport, where the smaller branch leaves the large branch to Bullock, it is 19 miles. This means that altogether over 150 miles of new track will be opened for traffic which is one of the biggest pieces of new construction that has been completed by the C. P. R. this year. Another feature which marks the opening of this line is important, is that when the service is inaugurated, two trains will be run each way each day. The significance of this statement is seen when it is stated that generally when new lines are opened there are only three passenger trains a week on each run for the first few months.

The announcement of the opening of these new branches brings home the fact that one of the most remarkable features of the railroading in western Canada this year has been the amazing enterprise of the Canadian railway in pushing forward its branch lines to completion. Despite the fact that the Canadian Pacific railway has had to pay high prices for construction gangs owing to the scarcity of labor hundreds of miles of new road have been built and good services inaugurated so that the incoming settlers have had the best of transportation facilities to aid them in seeking out new homes. The building of these branch lines has, in most cases, involved a considerable expenditure because the C. P. R. has been pushing its network of steel rails in all directions, opening vast amounts of absolutely unsettled territory.

PASSES OWN SENTENCE

Richmond, Ind., Oct. 27.—When James Maher faced Mayor Zimmerman, charged with public intoxication, the mayor said:

"James, you have been before me so many times for intoxication that I'm really tired of fixing punishment. I'll just let you fix your own punishment on your plea of guilty just entered."

Maher, though taken by surprise, was equal to the occasion.

"Owing to the fact that I don't believe I should be punished," said Maher, "I will now dismiss the charge against me and order myself released."

"All right, go ahead," remarked Mayor Zimmerman, "but on your next appearance it will be different."

RACE AND RELIGION

"Spectator" in Canadian Churchman Analyzes Borden Cabinet.

The one outstanding feature of the personnel of the cabinet is the presence of the titular leader of the Nationalists, a man who, in the judgment of many, can hardly be said to have "played the game" with his leader even before he openly identified himself with the Nationalists. But putting that aside, the wonder still abides, how Imperialism and Nationalism, navy and anti-navy, can be reconciled in one political household. Are the Nationalists prepared to forewear their Nationalism, or are the Imperialists prepared to forewear their Imperialism, or shall we have a neutralizing compromise? These are interesting questions. We are quite aware that politicians have an immense capacity for reconciliation when disagreement means loss of power, but the question is, can reconciliation satisfy the demand for public and private honor in our statesmen, a demand which lurks in the minds and hearts of our Canadian people? We frankly confess that we had supposed that the verdict of the people had made this alliance unnecessary, and the utterance of Mr. Bourassa immediately following the election, when he again declared his independence of Mr. Borden, had made it impossible. Canadians are anxiously asking the question, can we in this case have "peace with honor?"

This whole question of Nationalism is one of the most extraordinary problems of the day. It seems to be a question of origin rather than religion, of ancestry rather than faith. In the Church of God presumably the members are not classified as French or Irish or American by the Divine Head, and yet this would appear to be what is assumed by our Nationalist fellow-citizens. It would appear to be a question not of the Catholic Faith, but the Catholic Faith as presented and interpreted by the French-Canadian. It is not a question of being Canadian, but of being French-Canadian? They are segregating themselves into a sort of tribe, the new world Jews, the chosen of God, the called to be "a peculiar people." They are carrying their identity with them into Western Canada, the United States, and elsewhere, wherever a few of them gather together. They are claiming for those who have settled on the banks of the Assiniboine and the Saskatchewan all the privileges that have from time to time been accorded to their tribesmen on the St. Lawrence. They are not merging themselves with the great nation that is taking form in this young country, contributing their stamp and impress to the splendid composite that shall be, but they are most strenuously guarding their identity as a separate people. The whole scheme and outlook appears to us to be a sort of political and religious dementia. It is that kind of race propaganda that will ultimately result in a race war. It is a pathetic development of a people who taught us to call ourselves "Canadians," and bred within us the ambition for autonomy. Have our Canadian public men really looked into this question? Are we who are laying the foundations of an all-comprising nationhood and promoting a truly Catholic inclusiveness of faith, going to lend our aid to that principle of disintegration, which, however it may be disguised by euphemisms, surely leads to two Canadas where there should be one, and two races where there should be one people, and two peoples who should be united as one people under one flag?

Mary Ann Tibbitt, wife of an engineer, who is deaf, was decapitated by an express on a level crossing at Norton Fitzwarren, near Taunton.

"How do you know this man is dead?" asked the Richmond revising barrister, "I buried him four years ago," said the barrister, who is an undertaker.

SHEFFIELD CHOIR HOME

Two hundred and twenty members of the Sheffield Musical Union have arrived in England after a triumphant six months' tour round the Empire, says the London Standard. A few landed at Plymouth on Saturday, but the majority disembarked last night from the Aberdeen liner Marathon, at Tilbury dock, Dr. Charles Harris, originator and organizer of the tour, and Dr. Henry Coward, Sheffield's famous chorus-master, being among the former.

It will be remembered that the choristers set out from the "City of Steel" on March 17 last. They have visited since then Canada, the United States, Vancouver, Honolulu, the Fiji Islands, Australia, New Zealand, Tasmania, and South Africa, and have given in all more than 130 concerts. In each place the chorists have taken the form of a series of festivals, local municipal and official bodies taking part in the celebrations.

"The greatest enthusiasm was shown everywhere," said Dr. Coward to one of our representatives, "and what was most gratifying to me, artistically speaking, was that this appreciation increased with each concert in towns where we gave several, such as Sydney, where we booked ten events. It showed that success was won on merit as well as sentiment. It stands to the credit of the stamina and spirit of the choir that they sang in their best form everywhere, and finished up in Cape Town as fresh as when they started at Halifax last March. In fact, we return in the same strength as we started, not a single member having been left behind. Some only to join the forces again very soon. We never sang with less than 80 per cent. of our full strength, and some 30 per cent. of the choristers never missed a single concert. This is certainly a splendid record considering the ground that has been covered in a mere six months by these 'untravelled' amateur musicians."

The success of the undertaking is, of course, due to the organizing genius and indomitable patriotism of Dr. Charles Harris. "I think we have a right," he said yesterday, "to look upon the tour as a triumph for musical reciprocity. One incident alone made me think imperially," as Mr. Chamberlain puts it. When I was beginning to work out this reciprocity idea in my mind some ten years ago the Dutch and English elements in South Africa were in deadly strife. Yet, what was seen when we left Capetown homeward bound? Boer and Briton united, some 20,000 strong, headed by the Bishop of Capetown, in giving us their blessing, wishing us "God speed." Again, on the way to a large inland city we stopped at a place to refill engines. To our surprise the whole town, a Boer stronghold, headed by the mayor, met us at the station, and gave us an ovation. They besought us to sing just once. If it is possible to be so overwhelmed and enthusiastic at the same time, you will understand the effect of the impromptu concert by a handful of English people on that great crowd of fascinated Boers."

BERESFORD ON HIS TOUR

London, Oct. 27.—Lord Charles Beresford, interviewed to-day on his return from his trans-Atlantic trip, said that the sentiment of the Canadian people as expressed at the recent elections had saved the Empire. At the same time he sympathized with Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who was one of the few great statesmen of the day. "Every man was liable to make a mistake," he was glad Sir Wilfrid Laurier was remaining in politics, and this feeling was shared by all Canadians.

Although their services were not called upon, the special constables who were sworn in at Dover during the railway strike each receive a truncheon as a souvenir.

WAGES FOR WIVES

The Yorkshire (England) Women's Liberal Association is the latest woman's organization to insist that wives should be paid wages by husbands for doing the housework of the home.

It is evident that the man and wife who board are not so deeply concerned in the problem as those who keep house. The wife who boards may be a mother, and may claim that her care of the children is worth more than her clothing and a little pin money.

If, in addition, she attends to the multifarious duties of housekeeping, and especially if she has no help, should she not be remembered handsomely for so important and exacting a task, which knows no hours and no respite? In the days of our fathers and mothers, there was no such problem. The honor attached to the position of wife and mother was regarded as sufficient compensation. But if a woman refused to look at it from that viewpoint, she could not threaten her husband that if he did not pay her wages she would go out and earn them for herself.

Are we at the parting of the ways in regard to the marital relationship? Everything is being weighed in money scales. Industrial evolution has made the wife look with new eyes upon her husband's pay cheque and bank account. If she cannot have a "square deal," she will strike and that's all there is to it. But imagine the consequences of a wife strike!—Bellingham American.

The first monument ever raised to Lord Kitchener is now in process of casting at a London foundry, and will be set up in the Maidan, Calcutta's fine park, when completed.

CHURCH INDEBTED TO SUNDAY SCHOOL

President of British Columbia Association Speaks at Annual Convention

New Westminster, Oct. 27.—The fifth annual convention of the British Columbia Sunday School Association opened here on Wednesday afternoon with a large attendance of delegates from all parts of the province.

Addresses were read by Hugh Cork, of Chicago, the international assistant general secretary; Rev. A. E. Hetherington, principal of Columbian College, New Westminster; J. M. Graham, secretary of the Vancouver Y. M. C. A.; and Miss Elliott of Victoria.

In the evening Mayor Lee officially welcomed the delegates to the convention on behalf of the city. "I have had," said the mayor, "some little experience in Sunday school work and know how much encouragement is needed. There is no office in the church which demands so much attention as that of the Sunday school. We are very glad to welcome the Sunday school convention to our city."

Other words of welcome were pronounced by T. A. Rennie, president of the New Westminster Sunday School Association.

"What is the matter with us that with all our efforts we are not accomplishing what the Sunday school is after?" demanded Mr. Cook of Chicago in an address on "Our Greatest Needs."

"Somebody said, 'we tease God too much.' We are always asking Him for something," continued the speaker. The people who impressed me in my boyhood days have been the people who have gone into their chamber and shut the door and got the imprint of Christ upon their characters and then have gone out and taught."

"Some of us may not be up to much as teachers as far as ability to impart pure knowledge is concerned. But if we cannot teach the children into the church, we can love them in, and that is the better way after all."

"The Sunday school of to-day is the church of to-morrow. What kind of a church is yours to-day because of the Sunday school you belonged to yesterday?" asked W. J. White, president of the British Columbia Sunday School Association.

"It is only in very recent years that some of the churches, and these, for the most part, among the larger city churches, have begun to realize that they are indebted to their Sunday schools for not only their present standing, but even their very existence, and, accordingly, in planning for larger work, the Sunday school is beginning to have a higher place. If we trace the history of any of our churches, city or country, large or small, we will find in almost every instance they started with a Sunday school."

"One great fact that many of the church leaders do not know, or, if they have heard it, have forgotten when it comes to arrange for larger plans, is the important statement that 80 per cent. of the membership in our churches comes to us from the Sunday school, and these, before they are twenty years of age."

"The church is deeply indebted to the Sunday school for the training given those who fill her various offices, but the church at large and the world are indebted to the Sunday school for many of her great missionaries."

"Does anyone say that there is any portion of Christian work greater than the Sunday school?" concluded the speaker. "Perhaps some will say 'missions.' Then I say the mission field of the Sunday school is the largest and the best mission field there is."

Greetings were sent by lettergram to the Ontario Sunday School Convention, now assembled at Brockville, Ontario.

ROYAL WELSH LADIES' CHOIR.

Interesting Programme of Music From the Principality Presented.

The residents of Victoria and district who come from Wales, or are of Welsh descent, turned out in large numbers last evening to greet the Royal Welsh ladies' choir, which had a warm reception, particularly from their compatriots located here, when they dealt with the airs of the principality at the Victoria theatre.

Madame Hughes Thomas has a good choir with her, but the whole does not merge so successfully as a male choir, that cohesion of effect being lacking which might well be expected. Individually the choir possesses some strong voices, and among them conspicuous was the contralto of Miss Lewis in the "Miserere," from Verdi, and "My Ain Folk."

Among the concerted numbers the Welsh airs which were substituted for "Nyni yw'r merched Ceredig" (We Are the Musical Daughters) were especially attractive, as well as the songs, "Gipsy Life" and "Snow." Several changes were made in the programme, as announced, the items being strongly patriotic in tone, and the singing of the Welsh National air was a feature not easily forgotten. Among the duets the "Venetian Boat Song" obtained greatest general favor, the vocalists extending themselves in this number. Altogether the concert is not one likely to be soon forgotten by the music lovers of Victoria.

CASE OF SUSPICION.

Canadian Mineral Rubber Company Charged With Leaving Excavations Unprotected.

Although there was a very strong suspicion in the mind of the police magistrate this morning that the Canadian Mineral Company employees had left excavations on Esquimalt road unprotected at night by a light, his worship did not think the suspicion sufficient to warrant a conviction against the company on a charge of having failed to comply with the by-laws governing the protection of the public against accident from open places in the streets.

H. A. Maclean appearing for the company argued, after evidence had been given that a rig with two men in it had met with an accident there and having admitted that a permit to do the work had been granted the company by the city, that the prosecution had not proved the excavations in question had been made by the Canadian Mineral Company.

The magistrate said he had a strong suspicion, and Mr. Maclean replied that he also had a very strong suspicion but his suspicion would not help the court.

AVOID OVERCROWDING.

To the Editor: I was extremely glad to see the letter of protest in last night's paper signed "Jinks." I have been a resident here for over ten years and before that was ten years in Vancouver. During the past two years I have made a number of trips to Vancouver and each time I have gone I have noticed the number of fine streets that have been spoilt through the building of three and four houses on a lot.

On returning home I have frequently remarked what a contrast to a full lot or more to each house.

Is it not possible to get the city council to pass a by-law prohibiting the building of more than one house on a lot, and that each lot must have at least 50 feet frontage?

We have lots of room for building on, and what need is there for creating these slum districts your correspondent writes about?

We are spending large sums in boulevarding our streets; why should we allow them to be spoilt by overcrowding?

ROBERT WM. CLARK.

BY-LAW VOTING POSTPONED.

To Enable Measure to Be Submitted for Additional Appropriation for Sea Wall.

A solution to the problem of the construction work at Dallas road sea wall, which threatened to be held up because the appropriation was almost exhausted, will be found in a bylaw to be submitted to the ratepayers, provided it is acceptable to the city council this evening, for another $25,000.

The bylaw authorized last year made available about $105,000, of which over $30,000 has already been expended, and as the agreement only permits the council to hold back about $18,000 to $20,000, or 15 per cent, it was necessary to find additional funds if the work was not to be held up, and the part completed exposed to destruction from the rough weather which will soon arise. Especially is this the case in view of the fact that the council now proposes an additional contract consisting of steps to the foreshore to reach the beacon, and the ornamental railing.

In order to make this possible, Alderman Langley will move the consideration of a supplementary bylaw for the sum named, and to rescind the motion passed on Oct. 25 calling for a vote of the ratepayers on Nov. 2, next Thursday, on the bylaws for Parks, Library, and Songhees Reserve park. The date now set is to be Wednesday, November 8. By that time the new bylaw can be ready to be voted upon with the others.

MURDER MYSTERY.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 27.—Detectives last night attempted to verify the story of J. A. Carr, a plumber, who had reported to the police that late last Monday night, as he was passing the apartment house in which Dr. Helen Knabe lived and met her death by a knife blow, he heard two screams and saw a man with a handkerchief pressed to his face, emerge from an alley. Carr was taken to the building and enacted his part in the incident. Carr's story is corroborative of the statement of the negro janitor of the building, who said he was awakened in the night by screams, but that he went to sleep again without making any investigation.

ISLANDERS CLAIM THEY ARE NEGLECTED

Progressive Conservative Association Formed for Queen Charlotte Islands

A Progressive Conservative Association has been formed at Masset Inlet, representing two-thirds of the voters of Queen Charlotte Islands. The slogan, "The Queen Charlotte Islands revenue for the Queen Charlotte Islands," has been adopted.

A thirty-year resident, Chas. Harrison, S.M., was appointed president with Mr. Ruck, managing director of the Naden Harbor whaling station, and Jas. Martin as vice-presidents, and Chas. M. Wilson as treasurer and secretary. Practically every community and settlement was represented and a provisional executive committee was formed with one representative each for Naden Harbor, Wooden River, Naden River, Tow Hill, Cape Effe, Oreander River and Yakoun River communities.

It is strongly felt that the government has seriously neglected this portion of British Columbia in the past, and that at least the present income of about half a million dollars—which flows into the provincial treasury from this source should be reinvested in productive work to develop this, the largest tract of farming land in British Columbia with an equitable climate and freedom from summer frosts not met with in other parts of the province.

It is stated that about half the Prince Rupert land office's receipts comes from this source and that isolated as they are, a government agent to look after the government's interest and a land office should be located on the inlet as practically all the farming land and many hundreds of square miles of timber, besides all the coal, is served by this greatest of inland waterways.

A strong feeling of resentment is felt throughout the entire island at the methods of the land department. In short, it is felt that the government fell down in the first primitive function of government, which is at present the only function that concerns the settlers, viz., the question of land titles, and a strong representation will be made that the staff at the Prince Rupert office be increased to cope with the work, should the government not grant a local land office which is so urgently needed for coal, timber and farming claims. Over half a million acres have been surveyed this summer, showing the need of a local office, as practically all this is on Masset Inlet.

RESTORES NATURAL COLOR TO GRAY HAIR

Not a Stain or Dye

That growing old and gray is unwelcome to most of us is shown by the almost unbelievable quantity of hair dyes and stains that are sold each year in the United States. Aside from the danger that attends the use of these preparations, it is well known that even the best of them cannot give permanent results and that they color the hair unevenly and in patches, making the user ridiculous to any close observer.

Printed below is the prescription or formula for a preparation that is not a stain or dye and contains no coloring matter, but which rapidly restores natural color to gray, streaked or faded hair in a manner which is truly remarkable, solely by its action in revivifying and stimulating the color sacs in the hair roots, supplying them with the natural food and oil nourishment which they require.

The ingredients are all simple, standard and inexpensive pharmaceutical products which you can buy at any drug store. The druggist will mix them for you or you can do it at home. Allow to stand one-half hour before using. Here is the prescription:

Bay Rum ..... 6 oz.
Lavender Compound ..... 2 oz.
Menthol Crystals ..... 1/2 dr.
Apply night and morning, rubbing briskly into the scalp with the finger tips or a medium stiff brush. This prescription is perfectly harmless and is recommended not only for the purpose named but as a truly wonderful hair grower.

ENDANGERED LIVES.

Roseland, Oct. 26.—I cut five air pipes on the Great Northern railway. I was told to do so by Clyde Petrie. This was about a couple of weeks ago. Clyde Petrie uncoupled two box cars. (Signed) Frank Querio.

This was the confession made by Querio to Chief of Police Long and admitted when arraigned before Magistrate Plewman charged with cutting air hoses in a manner likely to do damage to the railway property on or about September 22.

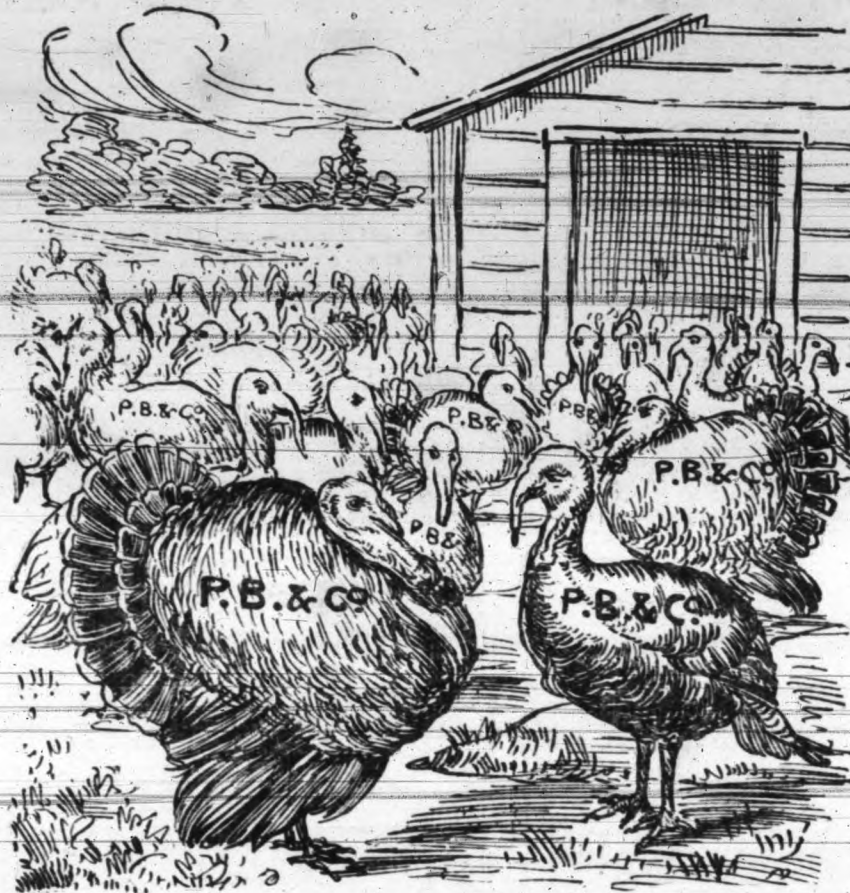

H. C. Bowers, agent, proved the damage to be $7.50, and Fred Buyers, car repairer, stated that if the train had pulled out without testing the air nothing could have held the train of seven cars. At the first sharp curve there would have been a wreck, and the train crew would have been killed and thousands of dollars damage done.

Querio stated that he only cut four pipes and Petrie cut one, although he admitted telling Chief Long that he cut all five.

When both boys were before the magistrate Querio was fined $10 and $2.50 damage to the air hose, and Petrie was ordered to pay $7.50.

CASE OF THE HINDUS.

To the Editor:—I have for some time past taken a great interest in the East Indian or Hindu population of British Columbia, and I feel it is only right for me to call the attention of your readers to some of the injustices which some of their number are laboring under at the present time. Amongst others are three noted cases.

1. Mr. Bhag Singh has been a trooper in British India cavalry and then went to China, serving in the police at Hongkong. He came to Vancouver in 1905 and was one of the founders of the Sikh Church at Vancouver. He started the Sikh Trust Company in Vancouver and went home to India to bring his wife here, and since March, 1911, has been knocking about at Calcutta and Hongkong, the steamship company refusing to sell him a ticket, alleging that he cannot perform the continuous journey.

2. Mr. Balwant Singh was the missionary priest of the Sikh church in Vancouver. He went to India some time ago to bring his wife and two young daughters to this country. He was a soldier in the 25th Regiment of Infantry in India.

3. Mr. Hakam Singh is a director of the Sikh Trust Company in Vancouver and was a trooper in 11th (King Edward's Own) Regiment of Lanciers in India.

All of these men hold considerable landed property and have lost about $3,000 in this useless waiting.

The British Columbia Hindus have decided to send their delegates to Ottawa at the end of this month to interview Mr. Borden's government, hoping that he will amend this iniquitous order-in-council, which is really ultra vires and unconstitutional. If unsuccessful at Ottawa they will proceed to England and interview British statesmen, and after that go to India, laying their final appeal before the people of India and the various political associations, e.g., the Indian National Congress, the Muslim League, etc.

The Hindus in this province have made up their minds to see this thing through, and if unsuccessful in their appeals they will take this case to the Privy Council in England to be tested in their courts, so that their rights as British subjects may be clearly defined. When the Chinese, Japanese, Doukhobors, Galicians, etc., can bring their families there is no earthly reason why the Hindus should not have theirs with them.

Do we as residents of the Dominion of Canada realize the imminent harm we are doing to the British Empire in allowing these people to be treated in the way they are? Can we wonder that many of those who are here are beginning to ask themselves the question: "What greater freedom is there in the British Empire than any other country?"

I hope that some abler pen than mine will take this matter up, and see if justice cannot be done to our fellow subjects from far away India.

There are 6,000 of them in British Columbia, and I venture to say that you cannot find a more law-abiding set of men of the same number belonging to any other nationality in the province.

Asking for your kind co-operation in this matter.

ROBERT WM. CLARK.

SCIENCE AND THE UNSEEN.

By T. H. Dodson.

Amidst the rattle and bustle of modern civilization that is fast robbing life of its last fragments of that repose so essential to the contemplation of the vast mystery of nature, it is good to feel that, here and there, bands of scientific men and women meet to plumb the impenetrable depths of the unknown.

What is science? The word falls easily and glibly from the lips of the modern, wherever the word is known and used, without the slightest idea of its inner meaning. To answer the query one is compelled to fall back upon the comprehensive definition of the word by Professor Swinburne: "Science is knowledge of nature utilised by man." For instance, without knowledge of the laws governing stress and strain, how many of the world's mighty bridges would now span valley and river and canyon, making possible those steps forward in the process of human progress without which man would still be travelling long journeys afoot and handling his commerce on pack saddles and primitive rafts.

One need only call to mind the wonderful application of scientific knowledge to surgery, medicine, chemistry and electricity, in the last few years, to be staggered by what has been accomplished, yet the mighty forces underlying the working of the universe are still so marvelously enshrouded in mystery and the secret of nature still tightly locked within its adamantine matrix.

What man, be he scientist or layman, can look out into the stellar universe on a clear starlit night with the eye of the physical body, without the eye of the mind reaching out beyond the range of vision of the seeing eye to other countless suns and systems, some of the suns of which shine infinitely brighter than our own sun, without asking: "What is life?"

The scientific chemist can produce precisely similar results by the combination of dissimilar sets of natural laws. Again, the electrical scientist can produce exactly similar results by the operation of totally different combinations of natural laws: a fact which leads to no other conclusion than that what the scientist knows as an infinite schedule of scientific laws is but the outcome of one set of primary laws which, if he could push his researches back to the last redoubt, would finally bring him to the gates of the Great Unseen.

Not in vain does the reverent scientist ask: "What is life?" Here and there comes a whisper that life and consciousness are parts of the great guiding force behind the universe, and that life itself never dies but follows some cyclic law making it eternal.

What are we doing with funerals if life never dies? asks the layman. Let us explain. Life and the body are two distinct entities: the one corporeal, the other spiritual. For instance, I open and shut my hands as occasion for their use demands: I possess sense of taste, touch, eyesight, hearing, speech, and a host of faculties which make up my abstract or individual entity. This force has come down to my own body through countless ages in unbroken continuity, but each succeeding body, in each passing generation transmitting this animating force we call life, comes into material being, and just as surely resolves itself again into its chemical constituents when it's clock of eternity strikes twelve. But what of the living forces which animated it? The chemist can tell us where the body has gone. Ask the scientist and he reverently calls halt.

We constantly hear it said that mind has again triumphed over matter as some new invention in mechanics, or chemistry, or surgery, or electricity, is given to a wondering world, but how finite indeed are these finite minds when compared with the prototype or master mind after which all finite minds are formed? That Great Master Mind which guides and holds a universe poised in space so vast that no finite mind of man can plumb its depth, or give dimension to its width or height or length.

Is it not material for profound reflection that all the great forces of nature, as we know them, at work are inviolable? Life itself, both animal and vegetable; steam and gas and electricity, we cannot see. We only know them by effect. Ask the "old" miners, what helped him to rip away five hundred thousand years of nature's handiwork that he might have his five pennyweights of the noble metal and he will tell you gellinite. Perhaps in his own language he was right. But in the language of the scientist gellinite is a material compound in which prodigious energy is stored unseen by human eye. Who, in thoughtful mood, can contemplate the mighty forces at work in the riping and the setting of the sun without the feeling that man's greatest achievement is puny indeed when placed side by side with the every-day omnipotence of the omnipotent.

Although we cannot always see the cause side of the law of cause and effect, it is sufficient to know that behind the movement of a planet in its orbit, as behind the lesser effect, which opens and closes the tiniest flower, and

Mining Renewal Predicted.

Nelson, B. C., Oct. 27.—Despite the settlement of the coal strike and the consequent opening of the western mines, it is expected that there will be considerable hardship in the outlying districts this winter. Opening at this late date the western mines cannot be expected to afford any considerable measure of relief, particularly to the farmers. The government sent out notices instructing farmers to purchase coal at the lowest possible price. Unfortunately, the large majority of the farmers have not ready money until after threshing. They were consequently unable to purchase coal and as most of the threshing still remains to be done, many have not yet laid in a supply. Among these people the situation will likely be serious.

ESTELLE CARROLL FREED BY COURT

TO BE RE-ARRESTED BY SAANICH POLICE

Judge Lampman Grants Appeal Against Sentence—Prohibition Order Late

The sentence of four months' imprisonment against Estelle Carroll, who was convicted in the Saanich municipal court of keeping a disorderly house in the Saanich municipality, was this morning set aside by Judge Lampman on appeal brought by the accused. There was no appearance for the crown when the case was called and after waiting until seven minutes after eleven o'clock Judge Lampman decided the matter and said he would fix costs later.

The non-attendance of the crown counsel to resist the appeal was due to the fact that Mr. Alkman was upstairs arguing before Mr. Justice Morrison an application prohibiting Judge Lampman from hearing the appeal on the ground that the judge had no jurisdiction.

The notice to appear before Judge Morrison was served on the appellant and her solicitor, Mr. Robinson, of Vancouver, yesterday, and Mr. Robinson and his client appeared before Mr. Justice Morrison at the time set 10.30 o'clock to-day.

The argument was in progress when His Lordship advised Mr. Morrison, a few minutes before eleven o'clock, that as his appeal was set for hearing in the county court at 11 o'clock he had better get downstairs and protect his client's interests there.

Mr. Robinson accordingly hurried below and when Judge Lampman took his seat on the bench asked that the appeal be granted. His Honor remarked that he had some hesitation about hearing the matter without the crown being represented.

Mr. Robinson replied that he had been sent from the court above by the judge to protect his client and again asked that the trial proceed. His Honor asked the time and learned it was 11.05. After waiting two minutes for the appearance of the crown counsel, who did not appear because he was still before Mr. Justice Morrison, Judge Lampman made the order quashing the conviction.

Mr. Alkman remained before Judge Morrison and later in the morning obtained a writ of prohibition preventing Judge Lampman from hearing the appeal on the ground that His Honor is a court of inferior jurisdiction. The order was not obtained until after the appeal had been heard by Judge Lampman.

Having obtained his order Mr. Alkman left the court, and hearing that the appeal had been allowed the county court, said that he as legal advisor for the Saanich Municipality would immediately have the woman arrested by the Saanich police and placed in jail. The matter would then come up on habeas corpus proceedings, where the legal contentions of the conflicting court orders could be settled. If arrested to-day the appellant will not be able to obtain bail, but must remain in custody until the matter is brought before the court again.

ITALY MAKES PLEA FOR CIVILIZATION

Statement of Case for Roman Republic as Aggressor in Tripoli

By Marcello Prati.

Once upon a time—and let us state, at last, the case for Italy as plainly as possible, cutting down all the useless trills of passion and impression—once upon a time Tripoli was a peaceful, law-abiding, and happy country. It was a country of the East, with its own laws, its own customs, its own religion, its own language, its own life. It was a country of the East, with its own laws, its own customs, its own religion, its own language, its own life.

Meanwhile, in front of those sluggish shores all Europe grew up wondering, and her finest men dreamt of bringing Northern Africa also up to the same standard. Britishers in Egypt built railways; Cairo became a brilliant western metropolis; and corn and cotton waved among the English dunes where the Nile mud was naked desert before. Great things did Frenchmen, too, in Tunis and Algiers. Their young towns glittered by the sea, nicer than Marseilles, livelier than Genoa.

All this was piracy, then? It was English and French history-making. Better still, it was the beginning of a new Mediterranean history. The old one was traced by the Roman trail, which centuries tried in vain to conceal under the sands of death. Destiny itself was calling southward the western nations to plough that trail again, and harvest again in it.

Tripoli alone—France-British hands having already got hold of the Sherehian Empire—remained a dead, hopeless spot. The glory of Cyrenaica's olive rustled lonely and useless over its sea. For everything there was kept from going by the shadow of the "Black Man," who confessed his sickness.

—But might it have lasted for a long time still? No. Turkey's fate in Tripoli was to be driven off. Europe wanted to clear her off African roads. And the Half-Moon in Tripoli was simply a barrier against the working out of civilization's nearest scheme: that of restoring the North African coasts, from the Red Sea to the Atlantic, to the full swing of their ancient splendor, with harbors and cities as busy as western cities.

Thus, year by year, the fatal discharge approached. A single knot had to be cut: which Power was to grab Tripoli from the Turkish grip? France and Italy, every civilized Power wanted to. The moralisers of to-day were the stalkers of yesterday. Yet he fair with them. They stalked Tripoli for their own interests, but their own interests were civilization's. And sound they were. Then, instantly, Italy came on, and said, "Tripoli is my share. It must be mine!" Disgracefully, her arguments in these cold days were still lacking in guns and gold. She was the youngest and the unlikeliest of the stalkers. She had to wait and grow.

She grew, working in silence. In the meantime, no Power had grabbed Tripoli, for all wanting to, they kept still lacking in guns and gold. She was the youngest and the unlikeliest of the stalkers. She had to wait and grow.

She grew, working in silence. In the meantime, no Power had grabbed Tripoli, for all wanting to, they kept still lacking in guns and gold. She was the youngest and the unlikeliest of the stalkers. She had to wait and grow.

But Italy had not yet the strength to play the game directly. She had to keep on waiting. It was a pity, indeed.

It gave even France and England strong doubts about her new guns and gold. And France and England, then, thought better to try and slice the hinterland of Tripoli between themselves, reserving to Italy their kindest sympathies. For civilisation—hadn't much time to spare.

Openly they tried. The Turks—once fierce fighters, and now knocking for help at all Europe's shut doors, and putting their heart at auction even before this England whom they deceived miserably—the Turks to-day feign to have forgotten it. But they remember. When they knew the Franco-British hangings upon Tripoli's hinterland, they began to cry and to call Germany. Immediately, however, Italy knew it too, and went to France and England. "You civilised pirates, please, keep off my grass," said she. "Tripoli is mine by the 1903 agreement. I'll go there soon as I am ready. Do what you like in Egypt, Morocco, and Congo; I don't care. But in Tripoli I'll hoist my flag!"

And France and England, being fair nations, quietly retired, and waited for events.

Events didn't move so quickly, though. The irony of things now, though Italy as taken by a brain-storm, while she, through all this job, was only deadly slow. She didn't like to get into trouble without her mind and guns in their best frame. She was still afraid to make a step longer than her leg. She kept as cool and careful as ever because cool strength was flowing in her veins at last.

But Turkey smelt the new turn of things, and began to dance her wildest cakewalks upon our national sentiment at large and our whole interests in Tripoli. Straws and beams came into our patient eyes from scintillating Turkey. Yet Italy still delayed the sailing of her ships. It was even ridiculous. This new delay, this delay eternal, began to make our country the laughing stock of the world's Chancelleries. Besides, it becomes dangerous. It gave way to complications. Germany, for instance, felt justified in thinking that Italian hands were too weak to grip Tripoli, and trembled at the idea that England or France might do it. So she put on the colony her very hungry eyes, got fine concessions there from her Turkish lovers, and didn't mask her desire to make of the vilayet a commodity of hers.

Thank God, all Italy through, soon the alarm rang. After having carefully weighed the use of Tripoli, we saw the enormous damage which would have arisen if someone else had got it. Conquering Tripoli, thought we, might not be a golden business. But losing it would be a sure disaster. Down there such sulphur mines lay unexploited, that, if worked out by other people, our Sicily would be driven to starve and riot. Moreover, Argentina is already checking our big streams of emigrants with prohibitive prices of land; and the United States hint to check it, too, for they soon will have enough with one hundred millions of people to feed up.

Thus the Italian race being still great in children-making, a Biblical business which means soundness and strength—Italy felt forced to make up her mind at last, and get a vent for them as soon as possible, and at any price. Tripoli was the last free one on the Mediterranean. Keeping away from it some months longer, our nation would have marched toward a future of begging.

It was last spring that Italy's indecision began to drop fast. Germany heard of it, loyally admitted our claims, and pulled her home her claws. All the other Powers heard of it, too, and while arranging their business in Morocco, Congo, and elsewhere they waited for an instant Italian sailing. Yet Italy, even then, didn't sail instantly. Some months still temporised. She began to talk so loudly of her next move that many a friend of hers swore and said, "That's childish! Now she is giving the game away."

Turkey thought so too, and the campaign of her press and government against us became as wild as ever. Slander and libel rained and hailed from the Turkish capital over every thing Italian. All the roughness likely to rise from the Turkish nature poured on all Italian citizens and interests under its reach.

Our press replied with dignified enmity. It quoted at length the Turkish printed infamies, and sent men to Tripoli to see and write up things. Thus, through last spring and summer, our biggest papers were clearly urging the occupation of the colony, showing the means for it, and frankly discussing all its hypothetical consequences, even a war with Turkey and troubles in the Balkans. In August, then, the "Stampa"—our leading liberal paper, fiercely independent but very friendly with our Premier—summed up the quarrel in a long, strong open letter to Giolitti under this eloquent heading: "Now or never!" And Turkey knew it was a watchword echoed from Rome.

Meanwhile the Italian government was striving to fulfil the people's will and push without recourse to war. But only haughty and deceptive answers from Turkey came. No way remained opened for a quiet transaction about the forlorn and excited land. Turkey thought Italy feeble, believed that all Europe would back her, as twice before, in fear of greater troubles, and again and again she laughed at Italy's claims. What was the use of parleying, then? Italy felt that her Tripoli business couldn't be settled but by strength. And our Foreign Secretary, as early as June 21, made it understood in full parliament, neatly warning Turkey of what was going to happen. Yet Turkey went on sneering, boasting, and asking Germany to Tripoli instead.

What followed is merely a matter of course. August brought war in sight; September declared it; October saw the Italian flag waving over Tripoli. And—note it—no Power uttered a single word about this at all. Because every Power "knew" and agreed. Italy acted prudently. She must have had assurances. The very facts are telling so.

Only she did not trouble about the world's opinion. How could she have dreamt of so much fuss coming exactly from those Germans who went to Agadir—those Austrians who ate up Bosnia-Herzegovina violating a written treaty—those English who remembered their Kimberley and Zambesi affairs of 1871 and 1895—and those French who six years ago sent battle-ships and landed troops in Mityene, and who just now have 30,000 soldiers in Fez? They fussed a lot, though. But when it happened Italy did not cry. She knew the shoeer injustice of it all. She only said that the Italian public "notes, compares, and remembers."

And she went on in her fresh way of doing things: unavailing with swiftness, straightness, and power. "Look how smart she is, after all!" the world begins to say just now. Tomorrow all the critics of yesterday will gladly acknowledge that the baggage she took with her to Tripoli is a providential one. For Italy does not land there only with machine guns. She carries other machines in her bag, machines to plough the forlorn fields and to rebuild the dead towns. She means civilisation. And that is all.

PURCHASE OF B. C. ELECTRIC RAILWAY

Vancouver Alderman Proposes to Form Sinking Fund of $500,000 a Year

Vancouver, Oct. 26.—As chairman of the annexation committee, Ald. Stevens, at the meeting of the city council, successfully got through the recommendation that the city solicitor be instructed to prepare a charter amendment for the city to reserve a sum of not less than $500,000 per annum of its borrowing powers, up to the date of purchase, as a sinking fund to provide for the purchase of the B. C. Electric Street Railway and its equipment at the expiration of its franchise. This regulation, it was stated, does not in any way commit the city, and there will be ample opportunity for discussion on the subject when the amendment is submitted.

Another matter which occupied a good deal of the time of the council was the proposal of Alderman Enright that the resolution passed at the last meeting of the council that the lease held by the Sechart Steamship Company be transferred to the G.T.P. Railway, be rescinded. It had been conditioned that the company would surrender the lease to the city on thirty days' notice after the railway commission had approved of the general scheme for the subways and overhead bridges at the North Vancouver ferry, but Alderman Enright, who was not present at the meeting when this was arranged, felt that such a procedure would be seriously injurious to the city, and he wanted the whole thing cancelled. After discussion it was arranged that the matter should be referred back to the board of works.

In connection with the B. C. Electric matter Alderman Stevens assured Alderman Rogers that the proposal did not in any way commit the city to the purchase. The object is to create a reserve fund to form a nucleus so that the city will be in a position to take over the railway at the expiration of the franchise. In 1919 the city would, he said, be faced with certain conditions requiring a larger expenditure than would appear at the present time. For one thing, they would have to establish a power plant, and even to-day many of the citizens thought more cars should be supplied. It was hardly likely, in the circumstances, that the company would get its plant up to the highest point of efficiency, and therefore the city would have many financial matters to consider.

All the members of the annexation committee, he said, were in favor of adopting the report. Alderman Kirkpatrick considered that a plebiscite to the people would cover the whole matter, and he could not see that an amendment to the charter was at all necessary. Alderman King did not think that Alderman Stevens, in the clause submitted, had sufficiently specified the recommendations, as it appeared that if the money was not used for the purpose it could not be used for anything else. He advocated that the reference to the railway should be deleted.

While assuming that a further amendment to the charter must be made before anything could be done as to this matter, Alderman Rogers considered that the question of purchase should be further digested by the council before amending the charter. He was in favor of purchase, but he thought that the money should be borrowed as a public utility, and that the whole amendment should be one amendment to the charter. Alderman Macpherson felt that there was nothing harmful in the passing of the resolution. With little further discussion the report was adopted.

LEFT FAMILY TO SEEK GOLD

Kamloops, Oct. 26.—At the provincial home, Duncan McDonald, who has been an inmate since 1898, having been admitted from New Westminster, died, aged 81 years. He was a strange story. He was a native of Dundee, Glenarry, and in course of time married. Seized with the gold fever, he joined the rush to California in 1849, leaving wife and family, the youngest of whom was a baby girl only three weeks old. But fortune did not smile upon him in the golden west. He wrote home from time to time and spoke of his return. His letters were fairly regular at first, then were written at longer intervals, and finally his writing family ceased to hear from him. He was discouraged and probably had not the courage to go back to them worse off than when he went away, and then he drifted along, finally ending in the old man's home at Kamloops.

Some three or four years ago, through the medium of Rev. Mr. Stewart, formerly Presbyterian minister here, he learned of his long-lost family. His wife was dead, his son and daughter were married and doing well in Montreal, and in the comfort of the knowledge of their prosperity he found some comfort in his last days.

WANT TRAMLINE

Vancouver, Oct. 26.—Prominent citizens of Vancouver who own property at Coquitlam and Pitt Meadows as well as resident property owners, held a meeting here to take preliminary steps toward providing tram communication between Vancouver and those points. It was decided in view of the development in progress on the north shore of the Fraser to promote a project for extending the proposed line as far as Ruskin at the mouth of Stave river and a point on the C.P.R. main line.

It was decided to communicate with the Western Canada Power Company asking if it was prepared to enter into a contract to supply electrical power for the proposed tram for a period of at least fifteen years. If a satisfactory reply is received the work of organizing a company will be proceeded with, those present agreeing to back the enterprise.

Every day which is bidden to wait returns with seven fresh duties at its back.—Kingsley.

NELSON HOSPITAL CAMPAIGN.

Nelson, Oct. 26.—The money campaign to raise $20,000 for the balance of the amount required for the building of a new hospital was advanced a step nearer to a reality when a secretary and organizer were appointed to handle the detail work.

The hospital board has, at all its recent meetings, thoroughly discussed the subject, and has gone into many phases of the campaign. At its last special meeting there was much discussion on the campaign and the manner in which it was to be handled, and a committee was finally appointed, with power to act, to select and engage a secretary for the work. The secretary who has seen campaigns of this description handled, is considered a capable man in whom the selecting committee has every confidence. The detail work will be started to-day, and it is probable that the actual collecting days will be during the second week of the coming month.

This encircles the furnace—it holds several times as much water as the makeshift pan in the average furnace—it is placed just at the proper position to catch the incoming air, to give it extra moisture before it gets to the heating surface and thus the air supplied to every room is almost as humid as the outside atmosphere.

FIFTY-FOURTH REPORT OF FISCAL COMMISSIONERS

Nation's Income Totals More Than One Billion Pounds Sterling

Some striking facts and figures illustrative of the wealth of the United Kingdom; the huge sums raised by direct taxation; the proportion in which different classes are taxed, and the progress of the new taxes, are given in the 54th report of the Inland Revenue Commissioners.

This report is for the last financial year, which ended on March 31, 1911. In other words, it fills in the details of the financial picture which the Chancellor of the Exchequer outlined in his last Budget statement.

The Budget estimate of the amount receivable by the Exchequer for the year from Inland Revenue duties was £102,550,000. As a fact, the amount paid into the Exchequer was £102,500,000, the net receipt of Inland Revenue duties having been £102,525,752. Of this England contributed £92,109,156, Scotland £8,321,466 and Ireland £2,295,820.

Outside this sum £2,095,000 was paid for services connected with the collection of the taxes—35 per cent. of the amount collected.

As to estate duties, the report mentions that during the year the estimated value of property exempted from death duties in respect of bequests to national and municipal institutions was £905,410. Legacy duty was paid on estates of an aggregate value of £39,898,000, and succession duty on estates of an aggregate value of £21,263,000.

Still bigger amounts are next dealt with. The net capital value of estates passing at death during the year was £77,754,727, representing 67,795 estates, of which only £2,500,000 in value; two others exceeded £2,000,000; and 11 others exceeded £1,000,000. Thirteen instances are recorded of estates valued at between £500,000 and £1,000,000.

Land tax receipts for the year amounted to £1,230,000, as against an estimate of £1,250,000, while only £150,000 were received as against £700,000 estimated in the previous year. The difference is explained by the abnormal conditions caused by the delay in the passing of the Finance Bill for 1909-10.

There were charged to house duty 1,964,451 premises, with an aggregate annual value of £94,239,912, of which 1,507,054 were private dwelling houses, with an aggregate annual value of £67,605,312.

An interesting portion of the report dealing with the income-tax and super-tax receipts, showing a net receipt of £60,505,094, is notable for the reiteration of the words "not available" opposite the year date in each tabular statement of information. For the previous year, however, it is shown that the gross income brought under the review of the income-tax department was £1,100,345, made up of the following items:

Profits from ownership of property, £272,146,541.
From occupation of lands (mainly farmers'), £17,392,508.
From British, Indian, Colonial, and foreign government securities, £49,127,227.

From businesses, professions, employments, £558,695,439.

Salaries of government, corporation, and public company officials, £112,828,430.

"The number of super-tax payers" (incomes over £5,000) "at present known for the year 1909-10 is about 10,600; we are told, "and there appears little likelihood of any appreciable addition to that number." £2,891,345 was collected in 1909-11 for super-tax. The estimate was £2,750,000, but against that surplus we must place the previous year when £500,000 was the estimate, but nothing at all was collected owing to the Budget fight.

For purposes of comparison, it is worth giving the corresponding figures for 1900-01:

From ownership lands, houses, etc., £232,810,179.

From businesses, professions, employments, £558,695,439.

Salaries of government, corporation, and public company officials, £112,828,430.

From British, Indian, Colonial, and foreign government securities, £41,364,917.

From businesses, etc., £466,189,836.

Salaries of government, corporation, etc., officials, £75,851,415.

One of Mr. Lloyd George's most novel Budget features, it will be remembered, was a provision that any individual whose total income exceeded £150 and did not exceed £500 and who had a child or children living and under the age of 16 years was entitled to relief from the tax on £10 for every such child.

Relief under this clause was granted in 1909-10 to the extent of £3,855,638.

The changes that are taking place in the neighborhood of the great towns is indicated by an examination of "the distribution of the gross profits, reviewed under Schedule A of the Income-tax, as between lands, houses and other property." Comparing the figures from 1909-10 with those from 1900-01, there was a decrease under lands of £725,645, or 1.4 per cent.

"This," it is remarked, "was due in a great measure to the absorption of land in the neighborhood of large towns for building purposes."

As regards houses, there was an increase of £32,261,936 or 22.3 per cent. in the ten years, accounted for by the erection of new buildings and increased rentals of old ones.

Altogether 527,163 persons were assessed for income-tax under Schedule D in the United Kingdom in 1909-10. Including others assessed under "salaries of government, etc., officials," the total employees assessed numbered 605,556, and they paid £146,565,996.

Under the heading of estate, etc., duties, the report shows the net receipt in the year 1910-11 was £25,708,996, as compared with £21,754,832 in the previous year. The number of estates (personality and realty) valued at more than £250,000 was 86 in 1910-11, as compared with 79 in the preceding year. The total gross capital of which the department had notice in the year as passing at death, including the capital on which estate duty was computed before death, was £302,254,872—namely, England £252,813,864, Scotland £32,472,302, Ireland £16,968,700.

The net amount in estates or portions of estates liable to duty made a total of £272,724,729; whilst the estates exempt from duty (not exceeding £100 net value) showed a gross sum of £1,760,232.

How our land is distributed is shown in a significant table.

Among small estates, those not exceeding £200 in gross value numbered 19,558 in the United Kingdom, of which 14,689 were in England. Those exceeding £200, but not exceeding £500 in gross value, numbered 9,612 in England, supplying 7,461 of the total.

The number and net values of estates in the United Kingdom included 5,151 exceeding £100, but not exceeding £500; 10,948 exceeding £500 and not exceeding £1,000; whilst the total was 14,499 of estates exceeding £1,000, but not exceeding £5,000.

There were 3,115 exceeding £5,000 and not exceeding £10,000, and 1,967 estates exceeding £10,000 and not exceeding £20,000. The number of estates of £25,000 and not exceeding £40,000 was 623, whilst 48 exceeded a quarter of a million, but did not exceed £400,000. There were 11 estates exceeding the latter figure, but not exceeding half a million in value; six were of £500,000, but not exceeding £1,000,000; whilst four others exceeded £1,000,000, but did not exceed a million.

Eleven estates were worth more than a million each, but did not exceed £5,000,000; two exceeded two millions each, but did not exceed £2,500,000; and one estate in England was returned as exceeding £2,500,000, but not exceeding £3,000,000. The totals were: England, 53,993; Scotland, 7,556; Ireland, 6,246—grand total for United Kingdom, 67,795.

In view of the interest taken in the question of the amount of income derived by this country from investments abroad an account is given of such as can be identified in the income and statistics, and the total shown is one of £93,264,004—nearly 4½ millions more than the year before, all paying a tax.

In addition there is a large amount—many millions more probably—which cannot be identified in the assessments, and which is included in a little item of 400 millions odd of "businesses not otherwise detailed."

The total number of income-tax assessments in 1909-10 was 1,136,792, of which 1,031,894 referred to individuals, of whom 22 returned incomes exceeding £50,000, and 251 others returned incomes of more than £10,000.

Salaries of between £5,000 and £10,000 are received, it seems, by three "employees."

Considerable space is devoted to an exhaustive report in respect to the duties on land values imposed under the Finance Act of last year.

During the last five months of last year some ten and a half million copies of Form 4 (Land) were distributed, and some nine million were returned filled up. The total number of provisional valuations made during the last financial year was 298,294, and the number of valuations of undeveloped land was 4,094, the hereditaments included in the valuations numbering 369,953. In 17,388 cases of property passing at death the accounting parties returned an aggregate principal value of £44,109,915, which was increased by £2,282,983 on official valuation. Under the undeveloped land duties site values are returned at £4,848,658 assessable and £4,958,402 chargeable, the duty being assessed at £10,320. The mineral rights duty as assessed was £269,932.

And a parallel to this scheme of universal valuation (says the report) we have to go back to the Domesday Book of William the Conqueror, and it is of peculiar interest, as forming a link between the 11th and the 20th century valuations, that in at least one instance there are probably others—we have in the course of our survey met with an estate which has remained in the hands of one family from the date of the Domesday Book to the present time.

Considerable progress has already been made with the work of valuation, but some years must necessarily elapse before the task can be completed.

The difficulties and delays incident to the setting up of the machinery of valuation," state the Commissioners, in conclusion, "and the lengthy period

ACCIDENTAL DEATH.

Vancouver, Oct. 26.—A verdict of accidental death was returned by the coroner's jury at the inquest into the death of William Kellie, who was killed at Forward Harbor on Monday, October 16, as the result of being crushed between the cylinder of a donkey engine and a tree. The engine was being shifted on a sled at the camp of the Northland Timber Company with the object of loading it on a scow for conveyance to Vancouver. The evidence was that if Kellie had remained at his post he would have been safe, but he jumped to one side and was caught between the cylinder and the tree.

TRUE EDUCATION DEFINED.

Defects in Aim and Methods of Present Systems Described by Expert.

The present system of education in universities, public, and council schools is all wrong, according to the opinion of A. F. Sheldon, the famous American educator, who is now visiting London. Mr. Sheldon seems to have analyzed the educational systems of the world with a considerable degree of thoroughness, and he is of the opinion that the final remedy for improved commercial and social conditions rests with education in the scientific meaning of that term. He points out that the term education is universally made to be synonymous with the acquisition of knowledge, the attainment of facts. This, however, he declares, is not education, but one of the two processes involved in educating. He strikes a fundamental principle by drawing a distinction between educating and education.

Mr. Sheldon holds that education is a result, an effect. According to its Latin derivatives the word means to draw out or develop. The true function of education, he believes, is the development of the success-qualities in an individual, and that this may be brought about by two processes which may be termed educating. The first is the filling in, or acquisition of knowledge, which in the mental life corresponds to the nourishment of the physical body. The second, and quite as important a process, is the use of the success-qualities, which corresponds to the exercise of the human body. In speaking of the modern public school systems Mr. Sheldon said that he had a very great reverence for both the public and private institutions of learning of every civilized nation, but he felt that no greater mistake could be made than to proceed as if they were perfect and not susceptible of improvement.

"The difficulty is threefold," he continued. "Unfortunately the university came first. It was established in the early days when education was for the classes, not the masses. It was avowedly for the members of the learned professions. Those engaged in trade belonged to the masses, and they were not even permitted the privilege of obtaining what was termed an education. They were not scholastically trained. Commerce was looked upon as a hazardous vocation not worthy of refined natures or gifted intellects, and those preparing to engage in it were not supposed to need any particular preparation. Later the high school came, and the object of its curriculum was to fit the student for the university. Still later the common schools arrived. In many countries compulsory education came into vogue, but the object of the curriculum of the lower school was merely to fit the student for the high school.

"The result of all this is that the child may begin his education in the lower schools, and even though he graduates from the university, having travelled the whole educational journey, his preparation has tended to fit him ultimately for one of the learned professions, not for commerce. If a good student, it is true that his intellectual training helps him to attain high rank in commerce oftentimes, although there is a great diversity of opinion on the part of able men as to whether or not a theoretical grounding in the fundamental branches, supplemented by practical experience in the school of life, does not fit the candidate better for success in business than a university training as at present conducted.

"We find these conditions in spite of the fact that if all of the people of the earth were divided into two classes, first, those engaged in the manufacture and distribution of the world's product, and second, those engaged in the learned professions—by far the greater number would be in class No. 1. And yet our school systems, from top to bottom and from the bottom to the top, are primarily and as a whole, directed to fit the student for the professions. There are notable and worthy exceptions to this, but I am speaking of the school systems of the world as a whole. The second difficulty seems to lie in the fact that whereas the two processes of educating—namely, nourishment and use—should apply to the whole man, our present systems seem to be directed toward one-fourth of him. By that statement I mean this: Physiologically and psychologically man is a body plus a mind, and of the mind there are three grand phases—first, the intellect, through which the mind knows; second, the sensibilities, sometimes called the heart side; and, third, the will, the function of which is action.

"The truly educated man is the man developed in body, intellect, sensibilities, and will. The body should be educated or drawn out for endurance. The development of the intellect results in intellectual capacity or ability. The result of the systematic development of the sensibilities, such as faith, courage, honesty, and loyalty, is reliability. While the education of the will qualities results in correct decision and action. Endurance, reliability, and action are quite as essential for the winning of success as ability.

"The third difficulty seems to exist in the fact that in the attempt to bring about intellectual development in the child, or knowing capacity, we go about it in the wrong way. The physical sciences are the basis of knowledge or intellectual contents. To develop intellectual capacity or knowing power, systematic effort should therefore be directed toward development of the physical senses of the child. He should be made acute in his physical senses of seeing, hearing, touching, tasting, and smelling. With notable and commendable exceptions, our institutions of learning do very little in this direction.

"It is true that there is one thing grander than making a living, and that is making a life, but the stern fact is that in order to make a life one must make an honorable living. To fit the student for the attainment and preservation of his practicable and legitimate ideal, whatever that may be, and notably to fit him to win in commercial life, far-reaching changes in our educational systems of to-day are, I believe, very much needed. The evolution to effect this change must needs be gradual, but it can be done. The present defects may be largely remedied by proper studies in the school of life."

WHEELMAN ABOARD BEATRICE WAS DEAF

Did Not Hear Order From Officer Nor Shouts From Look-out—Inquiry Concluded

Failing to hear the order of the first officer, who was on watch, to steady the helm, and the call of "land drawing close" from the lookout owing to his deafness, was the evidence given this morning by Wheelman Robins at the inquiry into the stranding of the Princess Beatrice. Capt. J. Gaudin, wreck commissioner, with Capt. Walbran and Capt. Eddie as assessors, presided over the inquiry, which closed at noon.

First Officer Hinds was the first witness called this morning. He stated that he was the officer on watch at the time. He had been in the service of the C. P. R. for three years and held an O. C. certificate. After rounding Noble island he ordered the helm to starboard, and later told the wheelman to steady the ship on east. He then left the wheelhouse to stream the log preparatory to setting his course down Guelph Channel for Broughton Straits. Later seeing the land close he rushed forward and ordered the helm hard a port, but the vessel grounded heavily and remained fast.

Robins then took the stand and stated that he was watchman aboard the Beatrice and had just relieved the quartermaster for a few minutes so that he could get his coffee. He did not hear the order of the watch given any further order after "hard a starboard" and did not shift the helm. Further, he did not hear any calls from the lookout that the land was close nor was he able to see the land owing to the steam on the window. He stated that he was slightly deaf and on this account did not hear the signals.

Lookout Donald Morrison stated that he called out twice that land was drawing close but that he received no answer from the wheelhouse.

Judgment is to be rendered in the case on Friday morning next at 11 o'clock in the Assize court.

WEST COAST VESSEL TO BE BUILT HERE

Contract Awarded to Bullen by C. P. R.—Will Cost Quarter of a Million

To replace the steamer Tees in the west coast service, the C. P. R. has awarded a contract to the B. C. Marine railway for the construction of a new steamer to cost in the neighborhood of a quarter of a million dollars. For some time past the officials of the B. C. Coast service have experienced much difficulty in handling the large number of people and the heavy amount of freight going to the west coast ports. The Tees has been found to be inadequate and the company has decided to build a larger and better steamer for the run.

The steamer will be the largest steel hull built on the British Columbia coast. She will be about the size and somewhat similar in type to the Princess Royal of the Skagway service, which was built as Esquimault. The new Princess for the west coast run will have one deck less than the Princess Royal. She will be about 210 feet long, over all, and 22 feet long between perpendiculars, with beam of 25 feet and depth of 17 feet. First class passenger accommodation will be provided and there will be cargo space for between 500 and 600 tons of freight.

The steamer is to be a substantial, thorough sea-going craft, built of steel practically throughout, with the pilot house and the officers' quarters on the upper deck being of wood, and the decks will be trimmed down with solid caulked planking. The stowage and tonnage accommodation will be provided after the style of that of the steamer Princess Mary, one of the more recent additions to the local fleet, the after hatch being trunked through to allow of the easy working of cargo.

HAVE NARROW ESCAPE

Everett, Wash., Oct. 27.—That Walter Fontaine threw them into the river in an attempt to drown them when they threatened to tell the police he was running a "blind pig" was the story told by Charles McCallan and Carl Oyan to the police last night, about midnight, and early to-day Fontaine and his wife, A. W. Moran and H. Christensen, were arrested and lodged in the city jail. McCallan and Oyan narrowly escaped drowning in the Snohomish river, they asserted, as it was deep at the point where they were thrown in, and both were well soaked and chilled when they reached the shore.

McMANIGAL MAY BE CALLED

Will Probably Testify Before Federal Grand Jury at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 27.—That Orville E. McManigal would be subpoenaed to appear before the federal grand jury in this district early in the investigation of the so-called McNamara dynamiting case, is reported to-day. McManigal, it was pointed out, could be brought to this city from Los Angeles, examined and returned to California before he should be needed as a witness in the trial of James B. McNamara. It is said that McManigal's statement will be essential in an investigation of the charge that John J. McNamara and his brother were in a conspiracy to transport dynamite in violation of a federal statute.

ALARMING FIRE ON FRENCH BATTLESHIP

Showers of Sparks Fall Close to Magazines Which Are Flooded With Water

Toulon, France, Oct. 27.—An alarming outbreak of fire occurred yesterday on the French battleship Justine, a sister ship of the Liberté, which was blown up on September 25. The fire is believed to have been due to a short-circuited wire. A shower of sparks fell close to the magazines and the commander of the battleship immediately ordered the forward magazines flooded. No great damage resulted.

TRAGEDY IN MOVING PICTURE STUDIO

Manager Killed and Head of Company Wounded by Japanese Gardener

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 27.—W. M. Selig, of Chicago, head of the Selig Motion Picture Company, was wounded; Francis Boggs, manager of the Pacific Coast department of the picture concern, was killed, and a Japanese gardener is in jail charged with the crime, which it is said was committed without provocation when the Japanese suddenly ran amuck.

The tragedy occurred at the studio of the Selig Company at Edendale, a suburb of Los Angeles. Selig, who had arrived here on business from Chicago, was looking at the land owned by Edendale early to-day to meet Boggs. The two men were holding a conference in the office, when, according to the police, the Japanese, who gave his name as Frank Minimatsu, and who had been employed at the studio as a gardener for two years, suddenly entered. He was armed with a revolver, which he immediately opened fire upon the two men. He fired five shots, two taking effect in Boggs' body and two in Selig's, while the fifth went wild.

Boggs was hurried to the receiving hospital, but was pronounced dead when he arrived there. Selig was wounded in the head and in the arm.

Officer Hagenbaugh, a mounted patrolman, was passing the studio at the time of the shooting. He ran to the scene and with the aid of W. Fantschi, leading man of the motion picture company, and several other actors, succeeded in overcoming the Japanese, who, though small, was said to have made great resistance. Minimatsu was taken to jail, where he maintained a moody silence, refusing to say a word in explanation of his sudden change from a polite servant to an alleged murderer.

The actors who assisted Officer Hagenbaugh in taking Minimatsu to jail showed the effects of their struggle with the Japanese. They could offer no explanation for his alleged act. The police say they believe the Japanese was crazy.

Selig was taken to a hospital this afternoon, but surgeons attending him and his business associates, denied that he was seriously injured.

Santa Barbara, Cal., Oct. 27.—Sheriff Stewart left here at noon to investigate sensational reports that a Southern Pacific engineer was fired upon when his train passed a tunnel at 1 o'clock this morning and that 25 sticks of dynamite were found placed beside the tracks. The dynamite was found by Officer Maeroy, who reported to the sheriff.

DAVIS GOES TO CLEVELAND

Cleveland, O., Oct. 27.—Harry H. Davis, first baseman of the world's champion Athletics, and Lieutenant of Connie Mack, their manager, to-day signed a contract to manage the Cleveland team of the American League in 1912. He arrived here this morning from Philadelphia and immediately went into conference with President Charles Somers and Vice-President E. S. Barnard of the Cleveland club.

MANY MAY COME WEST

Winnipeg, Oct. 27.—Col. Davidson, land commissioner and president of the Western Canada Lumber company, is in Winnipeg perfecting an active colonization movement among French-Canadian lumbermen from Ottawa and Gatineau valleys to British Columbia under the auspices of the Canadian Northern Railway of which company he is also land commissioner.

At the Western Canada Lumber company's mills on the Fraser river there are already 200 habitant families employed and many of their friends and relatives are making preparations to leave in the spring for the far west where steady work and a guarantee of good schools and churches has been made by the promoters.

WAR MINISTER ORDERED HOME

Forces Now Moving Against Rebels

Peking, Oct. 27.—The minister of war, General Yin Tchang, who is at the head of the imperial forces, has been ordered to turn over his command to Ying Shi Kai and to return to Peking. It is believed that Yin Tchang has been wounded. The new commander-in-chief ranks as the imperial minister of war.

At its session to-day the National Assembly adopted a resolution to memorialize the throne requiring the immediate institution of a "popular parliament," the reconstruction of the cabinet with the nobles excluded and the pardon of political offenders, including the present rebels, as the best means of quelling the rebellion.

The members lamented the fact that Sheng Hsuan Hui had not been sentenced to death.

DEMANDS OF REBELS

Shanghai, Oct. 27.—The Imperialists have approached the leaders of the revolutionists looking to a compromise, according to reports. The rebel chiefs are willing to negotiate, but demand as basic conditions the appointment of Yuan Shi Kai as premier, the immediate assembling of the promised representative parliament and the complete reformation of the provincial governments throughout the Empire.

Friends of Yuan doubt that he will accept the responsibility suggested unless he is granted extraordinary guarantees.

Ngan Kiang, the capital of the province of Ngan Hwei, was taken over by the rebels to-day.

NEW HOTEL VANCOUVER

Vancouver, Oct. 27.—It is understood that Messrs. Skene and Christie, contractors, have been awarded a contract for constructing the new Hotel Vancouver. The proposed improvements will cost over $1,000,000. The same firm recently completed the Howe street wing as well as the annex at the corner of Robson and Howe streets, and are building the new east wing of the Empress hotel in Victoria.

It is stipulated that the Vancouver job must be completed in time for the tourist travel in 1915, the year of the opening of the Panama Canal.

The first portion of the old hotel to be pulled down is the section embracing the hotel office and located between the Granville street wing and the new wing containing the dining room completed about seven years ago. The designs for the new structure were recently completed by W. S. Painter (chief architect of the C. P. R.), who has been the city for several days on business in connection with the improvements.

SUFFRAGETTES AND BOXING

Number of Women Will Witness Bout at New York.

New York, Oct. 27.—Women, many of them leading suffragists, will occupy the choicest reservations at the boxing bouts in the Long Acre Athletic Club here to-night. The programme was arranged by the Women's Progressive Political League, and is believed to be the first affair of its kind ever proposed by women. Every seat was sold early in the week with the condition that no woman attend without an escort.

Tom Sharkey and Gus Ruhlin will meet in a short exhibition with Robert Fitzsimmons as referee. The main bout will be between Al Palsor, of New York, and Ray Simmons, a Boston heavyweight.

HUNTERS KILL COUGAR

Big Cat Which Has Been Raiding Vancouver Zoo Shot.

Vancouver, Oct. 27.—The cougar, which has been making his headquarters in Stanley park for the past two weeks, was shot yesterday afternoon by three hunters who came here especially for the purpose. The men who did the trick are J. Hornby, G. Shannon of Cloverdale and M. Michael of Langley Park. They entered the park about 1 o'clock with three excellent hunting dogs and about three hours later the dog announced that they had the cougar up a tree. The hunters made their way through the thick brush to the scene. Mr. Hornby fired first and the cougar dropped to the ground where he was fighting with the dogs when another bullet from Mr. Shannon's rifle finished him.

During his stay in the park the cougar lived high at the public's expense, having disposed of three deer and three goats. In fact the superintendent was beginning to fear that the "zoo" would become depopulated and the cougar's death is a great relief.

EXPERIMENTING WITH NEW GUN

Washington, D. C., Oct. 27.—Recent publications hinting at the development of a remarkable aeroplane gun have brought out the fact that a strong rivalry exists between the army and the navy ordnance bureaus in designing and constructing guns calculated to solve problems introduced in land and sea warfare by the adoption of aeroplanes on land and the hydro-aeroplane at sea as machines of offence. It appears that the two bureaus are proceeding on precisely opposite lines, the army trying to develop a gun that can be trained with lightning-like rapidity on swiftly moving aeroplanes with the purpose of bringing them to earth, and the navy striving to equip its hydro-aeroplane with guns which will shower destructive missiles upon fortifications or regiments of soldiers.

A novel feature of a new French submarine boat is that the same power is used to drive it when submerged as when on the surface of the water.

ALASKAN COALFIELDS

U. S. Secretary of Interior Will Announce Government's Policy.

Chicago, Oct. 27.—The attention of the commercial world was directed to the American Mining Congress here to-day on account of the expected announcement by Secretary of the Interior Walter L. Fisher of the government's programme concerning the coal-fields of Alaska. Secretary Fisher's address as the feature of the congress will exceed in importance even President Taft's address to-morrow on the relations between the federal government and the mining industry.

Today was a day of the Arctic conditions being the subject of most of the scheduled speeches and papers, though a liberal share of the time will be given to the subject of public lands generally in the west.

SUIT AGAINST THE STEEL TRUST

Government Asks Dissolution of U. S. Corporation and Subsidiary Companies

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 27.--The government's long planned suit to break up the so-called Steel Trust was begun yesterday in the United States circuit court. It is the most sweeping anti-trust action ever brought by the department of justice. The government asks not only the dissolution of the United States Steel corporation, but for the dissolution of all constituent or subsidiary companies which are alleged to have combined in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law to maintain or attempt to maintain a monopoly of the steel business.

Thirty-six subsidiary corporations are named as defendants. J. Pierpont Morgan, John D. Rockefeller, Andrew Carnegie, Charles M. Schwab, George W. Perkins, E. H. Gary, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Henry C. Frick, Charles Steel, James G. Fisher, William H. Moore, J. H. Moore, Edmund C. Converse, Fer-cival Roberts, Jr., Daniel J. Reid, Norman B. Ream, P. A. B. Widener and William P. Palmer are named individually as defendants.

The United States Steel corporation,
the Carnegie Steel Company, the Carnegie Company of New Jersey, the Federal Steel Company, the National Steel Company, the American Steel and Wire Company of New Jersey, the National Tube Company, the Shelby Steel Tube Company, the American Tinplate Company, the American Sheet and Tinplate Company, the Lake Superior Consolidated Iron Mines, all of which were organized under the New Jersey laws and the H. C. Frick Coke Company, the Tennessee Coal and Iron and Railroad Company, and the Great Western Mining Company are named as corporate defendants. Louis W.
Hill, James J. Hill, E. T. Nichols and J. H. Gruber are named as trustees in connection with the ore companies.

The Steel corporation's lease of the Great Northern railway's ore properties which the directors of the Steel Company formally decided yesterday to cancel, is alleged to be illegal. The action of the directors was taken but a few hours before the filing of the bills.
The government admits that it was advised of the Steel corporation's intention in this respect but states that under the terms of the lease, cancellation would be effective until January 1, 1916, and there is no limit upon the amount of ore that can be taken out in the meantime.

Sensational allegations fairly toppled over each other in the government's petition which is an equity proceeding praying for injunction to stop continuance of the alleged monopoly and such other relief as the court may grant. The Steel corporation's acquisition of the Tennessee Coal and Iron company, during the panic of 1907 is declared illegal and scathingly criticized. The petition declares that E. H. Carey and Henry C. Frick misled former President Roosevelt when they told him "that but little benefit will come to the Steel corporation from the purchase."

"The president," it says, "was not fully acquainted with the state of affairs in New York relevant to the transactions as they existed. If he had been fully advised he would have known that a desire to stop the panic was not the sole moving cause, but that there was also a desire and purpose to acquire the control of a company that had recently assumed a position of potential competition of great significance.

"It is certain that the corporation availed itself of the embarrassment of Moore and Schley (New York brokers who had large holdings of Tennessee stock) at a most critical period and the threatening of a general financial calamity to acquire the control of a competitor taking on a formidable aspect."

"The corporation thus greatly strengthened its control of the country's iron ore supply. Its predominant position in the south's iron and steel trade, eliminated a competitor and unlawfully acquired a power which is a menace to the welfare of the country and should be destroyed."

The Gary dinners are referred to, though not by name, as meetings which accomplished more than written pacts or agreements.

"It was understood and agreed," said the bill, "that they (steel manufacturers represented at the meeting) were bound to protect each other, that to carry out this agreement, their honor was at stake and the obligation upon them was even dearer than life itself, and that no one of them should act or fail to act except with a distinct and clear understanding that his honor was involved and that this was more binding upon him than any written contract. When bidden by the chief executive of the corporation they came any time, from any distance, ready, willing and anxious to turn over to him and to his friends all that was in their minds and in their hearts concerning their own business."

Interlocking directorates through which those in power in the Steel corporation held positions of influence on the directorate of other powerful corporations, are referred to as "a method more refined, more reprehensible, but none the less effective than pools."

THE JAWS OF DEATH.

After Many Years British Officers
Receive Albert Medal.

After the lapse of over five years the action of a number of British officers and men who at the risk of their lives averted explosions in a magazine in which 319,000 lbs. of gunpowder were stored has received royal recognition, the King having bestowed the Albert medal upon them.

The scene of this dramatic incident is laid in India, and is thus described in the London Gazette:

"On August 29, 1906, a fire broke out in one of the magazines of the Ferozepore arsenal, comprising five cells, in which were stored cordite, small arms' ammunition and gunpowder. At an early stage the ends of one of the outer cells
(No. 10) were blown out by an explosion of cordite, while from cell No. 3, where small arms' ammunition was stored, smoke was seen to be issuing.

"Major-General Anderson who directed the operations from a roof, at a distance of some 20 yards, ordered all persons to be cleared out of the fort, and placed a cordon round it at 1,000 yards distance. A steam fire engine was got to work, and the fire party commenced their highly dangerous task of clearing cell No. 8 in which was stored some 19,000 lbs. of gunpowder; they eventually succeeded in so doing, thereby cutting off the fire by the intervention of an empty cell. Had the powder in this cell exploded, the explosion must have been communicated to cells in an adjoining magazine, where 300,000
lbs. of gunpowder were stored.

"Capt. Donovan volunteered to clear cell No. 8, and led the fire party, and all concerned acted with the greatest coolness in circumstances calling for a high degree of courage. The door of the cell was opened and the fire hose turned on. Major Campbell joined the of smoke, and the barrels hot, there was no actual fire in the cell. As, how-

No. 10 were becoming more violent, General Anderson, fearing that the barrels of power which were being re-ordered the discontinuance of efforts to clear the cell; the pumping engine was, however, kept at work by Mr. Dow
